Wagener Raps 'Operation Honesty'

... Hits 'Pressure, Force' Methods; Charges 'Flamboyant Political Publicity'

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County Attorney Frederick Wagener charged Wednesday that "pressure and force" are being used to advance the "Operation Honesty" program he described as a piece of flamboyant political publicity maintained to divert the public's attention from the real nature of the tax problem, and the lack of an adequate tax program.

"Operation Honesty" is the label Gov. Robert Crosby gave to his campaign for better personal property assessment this year.

Wagener said his personal objection to "Operation Honesty" is not its purpose or idealism, but to the method used in advancing it.

"Brain Child" "When 'Operation Honesty' had its beginning as the brain child of Governor Crosby, it began by pressure and threat of force," Wagener said.

"It had its conception before the County Boards of Equalization met, by the Governor sending an opinion of the Attorney General to those County Officials involved in equalization, which Attorney General's opinion held that County Officials could be removed from office for wilful neglect of duty.

"The appearance of county officials before the State Board of Equalization was the next step in conveying a sense of pressure and force," Wagener continued.

"Each county was granted a mere 30 minutes and no county could present a tax case before the State Board of Equalization in a mere 30 minutes, or even an hour.

"Such hearing, as it appears to me as an individual, was controlled and directed by the Governor or State Tax Commissioner. The hearings were perfunctory and cut and dried and the end result would have been the same . . . regardless of the evidence or showing made by various counties."

The next step indicating pressure and force in this program, Wagener related, was the hint in Gov. Crosby's announcement of "Operation Honesty" that there would be prosecutions.

The Governor talked to the press at that time about "example" prosecutions, but later "for a period of time toned such approach down," Wagener continued.

Later it was reported that the wearing of "Operation Honesty" button by state employees was to be mandatory, he said. "Again we see the threat of pressure and force."

"Mr. Big" "Now we find the governor talking about prosecuting 'Mr. Big' and he talks about farmers and business men who have not reported properly, correctly and honestly, and he now says without inference, there will be prosecution."

Wagener said no "example" prosecutions would be made by his office "just because 'Mr. Big' is big and 'Mr. Little' is little. Fair and impartial law enforcement is never rightfully determined on the basis of how little a man is or how big he may be."

"Personally," Wagener declared, "I will not sign any pledge, or wear any button, because I do not feel that it is necessary for any individual to make a public display of that individual's honesty."

Know Meaning

"All citizens, more particularly this year than ever before, will know the meaning of the oath which he takes when executing his tax return."

In connection with his comment that "Operation Honesty is a piece of flamboyant propaganda . . . Wagener declared:

"At the same time, money and energy applied to 'Operation Honesty' were expended toward a solution of the tax problem, much more could be accomplished for the individual taxpayer with much less fanfare."

Wagener's prepared statements were made Wednesday just prior to a called meeting of Lancaster County Courthouse employees in connection with the urged state-wide sign-up of county officials and employees by the program's supporters.

'Operation Honesty' Gets Cold Shoulder

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

"Operation Honesty" in Lancaster County got off to an early, but faltering start Wednesday during a meeting at the Courthouse of county employees and officials.

This was apparent from both the voluntary attendance and comments at the "after-hours" meeting called by the Board of Commissioners "to show we're not dragging our feet by having the first meeting in the state."

Meeting time asked for employees of the state and all counties by Gov. Crosby was 10 a.m. Friday, but Lancaster County jumped the gun because of this sequence of events:

1. The Commissioners, informed by County Assessor Arthur Davis that he had been contacted on an "Operation Honesty" meeting by State Tax Commissioner George Peterson, informally decided that a meeting should not be held during business hours—"this being the busiest season for some county offices."

2. As to the board's decision, the press-reported remark of Peterson was that "thanks to Davis the program could go ahead anyway in the county."

3. Then Wednesday, the slightly-chafed commissioners suddenly announced that an "Operation Honesty" meeting would be held yet that day "after business hours at 4:30 p.m. and attendance would be voluntary."

Nearly 100 county officials and employees attended Wednesday's meeting. Board Chairman Russell Brehm, who presided at the gathering, said the county has approximately 400 employees of which some 150 work in the Courthouse.

Voluntary Basis

Brehm, who explained that the county assessor would "distribute the Operation Honesty pledges and buttons to the various office tomorrow (Thursday), said the sign-up would be on a voluntary basis. He then turned the meeting over for comment.

Commissioner Chris Kuhner said his opinion hadn't changed about "Operation Honesty" since he first called the governor's speech "a first-class fairy tale."

"Why do you have to sign a pledge when you attest to your honesty in signing the oath on the assessment schedule. If this is merely a campaign, why do you need to sign a pledge? Just wearing a button should be enough," he added.

Commissioner Chauncey Barney said that "during the past there's been a gentlemen's agreement among counties on what should be the assessed values."

The variation in class assessment has created "finger-pointing" between the farmer, the businessman, the city dweller and so on. It's created the dilemma of "being a crook for a low assessment or a fool for a high assessment," he said.

The point of the governor's "Operation Honesty" campaign is that "in order to enforce a law you must convince a majority that the law is reasonable and should be obeyed," he continued.

"If you think your signing a pledge and wearing a button will be of some help, then you should sign."

"Confess First" "If you think it has the element of 'who shall come forward and confess first'—that's for you to decide," Barney concluded.

County Assessor Arthur Davis, explaining he would make distribution of the pledges and buttons to the county offices, said: "The returned pledges will be given to the state tax commissioner. I will not reveal who signed or did not sign the pledges."

If the meeting's keynote and earlier comments of many county employees indicate the general sentiment of all, most of the "Operation Honesty" pledges and buttons for distribution in the Courthouse will be returned unsigned and unworn.

Glassford Can Demand $87,500

Bill Glassford, who has been asked to resign as football coach at the University of Nebraska, can demand $87,500 if the remaining seven years of his contract are paid in full.

Where would the funds come from?

In a speech before the Omaha American Legion Club Wednesday night, Glassford said: "I am still football coach at the University of Nebraska." See the sports page.

First Plymouth Establishes Trust Fund Of $96,964

The First Plymouth Congregational Church set up a $96,964 trust fund for capital improvement of the church and church property Wednesday night at the annual meeting of the congregation.

A five-man trustee board was elected to administer the fund. Trustees of the fund: William Aiken, Max Meyer, C. Petrus Peterson, Arthur A. Dobson and Joe W. Seacrest.

The largest amount of the fund was the legacy of the estate of Landy Clark. The money had been invested in short-term bonds until the approval of the trust fund Wednesday night.

Memorial Service For Sgt. Barratt Will Be Sunday

A memorial service for Sgt. Robert Frank Barratt, 22, of 610 So. 9th, will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at St. Paul Methodist Church Chapel.

Dr. Frank Court will officiate. The American Legion will also conduct services.

Sgt. Barratt, son of Mrs. Vera Aline Barratt, was listed by the Army on Jan. 7 as presumed dead. He had been missing in action in Korea since Sept. 7, 1950.

'Caught In A Crosswind'

Arthur Godfrey explains—with gestures and a smile—the incident at Teterboro Airport. Godfrey talked to newsmen atop his hotel in Miami Beach, Fla., Wednesday. He said he was caught in a cross wind and had to turn close to the tower, it was unintentional, and if he scared anybody, he was sorry. (AP Wirephoto Wednesday Night.)

Reckless Flier Tag Pinned On Godfrey

Port Of New York Authority Will Ask Disciplinary Action If Facts Warrant

NEW YORK (AP)—The Port of New York Authority Wednesday night accused Arthur Godfrey of careless and reckless flying in a Jan. 7 takeoff from Teterboro, N.J., airport.

The authority rejected the television entertainer's statement that a strong cross-wind caused his plane to veer dangerously close to the Teterboro control tower.

Instead, Godfrey was accused of endangering life and property by disregarding Teterboro's take-off regulations.

The Port Authority asked the Civil Aeronautics Administration to make a thorough investigation and, if facts warrant, to discipline Godfrey "to demonstrate vigorously and unmistakably that reckless flying will not be tolerated in this area."

Maximum disciplinary action would be to revoke Godfrey's pilot license.

However, the CAA's first reaction was to regard the incident as a minor one and probably not deliberate. A spokesman said it would be difficult to prove it was deliberate when Godfrey states it wasn't, but added:

"I assure you, we will do our duty."

Godfrey, a veteran pilot, veered near the control tower during a takeoff in a DC-3. In Miami Beach Wednesday, Godfrey stood on his statement that a cross-wind was responsible but apologized for any scare he gave airport personnel.

"A 40-mile cross-wind caught me," Godfrey said. "It was unintentional, and if I scared the boys in the tower I am sorry. I thought everybody knew what had happened at the time, and I hadn't tried to do anything unusual."

Fred M. Glass, director of aviation for the Port Authority, noted Godfrey's explanation, but told the CAA:

"It is difficult for anyone familiar with Aerodynamics and the characteristics of the DC-3

Future Of Foreign Ministers' Talks Is Up In Air And Problem Shifted To Governmental Level

BERLIN (Thursday) (AP)—Russian and Western officials broke up in disagreement today after trying unsuccessfully for a week to arrive at preliminary details for the Jan. 25 Big Four foreign ministers' conference.

They could not even agree on which Berlin buildings—West and East—should house the sessions.

The matter now has been referred back to the governments of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union.

Observers said inability to pick a site might delay the conference on the future of Germany and Austria.

The West asked that the Big Four talks be held in the Allied Control Authority Building.

Gen. Timberman, neutral island in the U. S. Sector of West Berlin.

An American spokesman reported Soviet Delegate Sergei Dengin said the Allied Control Authority Building had had no four-power character since 1948.

In Washington, immediate reaction made clear that the United States will continue to try to reach satisfactory solution on the problem of where in Berlin to hold the conference.

A State Department spokesman said: "We do not believe this difference is of a character that will result in postponing the conference."

"This is characteristic of Soviet haggling and dilatory tactics on procedural points. We believe, and certainly hope, this will not stand in the way of this very important conference that can mean so much to the peace of the world."

Under Nebraska law, the jury sets the penalty for first degree murder convictions.

The judge explained the elements of the charges to the jury, pointing out that in the case of circumstantial evidence, which has played a large part in this case, the circumstances must be consistent with guilt and inconsistent with innocence before a verdict of guilty may be found.

Final arguments in the 6½ week old trial were heard earlier Wednesday.

Kuykendall is accused of killing his heiress wife, Ardath, 30, who was found dying in the couple's luxurious house trailer here last June 18.

In their arguments Wednesday, prosecution attorneys contended Kuykendall's story that he was in a four-day daze beginning shortly before his wife's death doesn't hold up in the light of testimony about his actions when he was arrested.

The daze had been attributed by the defense to chloral hydrate—a "Mickey Finn"—given him in coffee.

Defense attorneys pounded hard at what they called inconsistencies in the state's circumstantial evidence, telling the jury that the chain of circumstantial evidence must be consistent with guilt and inconsistent with innocence if there is to be a verdict of guilty.

They also named six state witnesses they contend didn't tell the truth on the witness stand. If Kuykendall has committed a crime, asked Bernard Boyle, "would he have sat there and waited for officers to come and get him?"

Kuykendall's right to inherit the estate may depend upon the outcome of the murder trial now concluding in Omaha. The amount of the estate has not been disclosed.

Lawrence V. Robertson, Tucson attorney and executor of the estate, said a highly involved trust account provides for the two children of Mrs. Kuykendall, who was married eight times. A mink coat, a mink stole and other furs and Indian jewelry were left to Mrs. Kuykendall's mother, Mrs. Ardath C. McKinley, wife of a Dragoon, Ariz., rancher.

Other jewelry was left to her daughter and the rest of the estate "of whatever kind of character and wheresoever situated" was left to her husband—"to be his absolutely and forever."

The will also mentions Noni's second husband, Rutherford G. Bingham, an Air Corps lieutenant reported missing in action in 1944.

Mrs. Kuykendall asked that approximately 100 letters from Lt. Bingham be placed at the base of the headstone next to her's and that an inscription, "How Do I Love Thee? Let Me Count the Ways," be placed upon it with her initials and his name.

'Quick-Answer' Desk Installed: New Facility To Aid Area Taxpayer

There will be no discounting the tax, but the Lincoln office of Internal Revenue has contrived to make the whole procedure easier and quicker for the taxpayer.

This year for the first time there is a special desk where a confused taxpayer can get quick and reliable answers and plenty of help in filling out his own return. He can also get blank returns, and instruction pamphlets and be relieved of standing in line with others who have already completed their schedules and are awaiting the individual attention of collectors.

"We believe this new facility will prove a welcome service and convenience," commented W. B. Rumbolz, supervisor of the Lincoln office. "It will be a time saver and a quick teacher of those who would like to know how to make out their returns in the comfort of their own homes."

Rumbolz's judgment is being borne out by the heavy play the new information desk is getting. The Lincoln office, in the post office building, services an average of 300 taxpayers a day during January and March and on peak days goes well above that figure.

Under recent reorganization of the Internal Revenue set-up

Standing-In-Line Tax Time Reduced

Lincoln's Population Climbs 17,446, Now Totals 110,350

Lincoln's population, according to City Planning Engineer Paul Watt, has climbed 17,446 since 1950 to reach a high at the end of 1953 of 110,350.

Watt submitted his figures on the city's population at a meeting of the City Planning Commission. The Commission voted that the population studies be continued for verification to help in future planning for the city.

The total figure arrived at by Watt is close to the 109,387 population reported by the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. through Cecil Donley, chief engineer for the company and Commission member.

Watt stated that in 1950, there were 26,700 living units in Lincoln and an average of 3.48 persons per family. In October of 1953, he said, there were 30,160 living units.

Watt arrived at the 110,350 by applying the 3.48 persons per family average to the number of living units and allowing a 2 per cent vacancy in the units. Watt cautioned, however, that the 2 per cent may be too low and thus give a higher than actual population figure.

The predicted census in Lincoln at the end of 1953 as made by Watt's planning firm of Harland Bartholomew & Associates of Kansas City, Mo., was 108,000.

In other action, the Commission approved the application of Harvey Rathbone to use four lots on the west side of 28th between Orchard and Y for off-street parking.

Also approved was the application of John W. Stahl to use the north 200 feet of one lot at 4870 Cornhusker Hwy. for a trailer park.

Crosby Talks Of 'Honesty'; Then He Errs

Lincoln Star Special CRETE, Neb.—Nebraska's Governor Robert Crosby dwelt at some length here on "Operation Honesty" and then proceeded to walk off with Mayor Fred Kerst's hat!

The mayor missed his Fedora immediately following the Con Fed, but decided not to announce his loss.

Meanwhile, the governor had donned the wrong hat and accepted an invitation to visit informally with State Senator C. C. Lillibridge at his home.

Among the guests at the Lillibridge home were John McKola, Crete attorney and former state senator, who had heard the mayor complain of the loss of his hat.

When the governor was ready to leave the Lillibridge home, he picked up the mayor's hat and then noticed it was not his own.

McKola added together the two factors and suggested he and the somewhat embarrassed governor visit Mayor Kerst.

P. S. The governor's hat was found hanging in the Sokol Auditorium.

Babies' Care At NU Draws High Praise

By SALLY ADAMS
Star Staff Writer

Babies used in home management courses at the University of Nebraska "respond and develop beautifully," Dr. Doretta M. Schlaphoff, Home Economics Department chairman, said Wednesday.

Dr. Schlaphoff said she could not agree with criticism leveled by Illinois welfare officials of the use of a baby in home management courses at Eastern Illinois State College in Charleston, Ill.

The University of Nebraska was one of the pioneers in such home management courses with the first home residence course being taught in 1918. The first baby was placed in a home management house in 1921.

Illinois Criticism

An Illinois official, Roman Harmski, superintendent of the Child Welfare Service Division, said the agency disapproves of the use of a six-months-old baby as a live model in home management courses. He said the agency believes the experience will be harmful to the infant's personality.

At the University of Nebraska, Dr. Schlaphoff explained, each girl who studies home economics takes a home management course in which she is responsible for the care and training of a baby for about a week. The resident director of the house has full responsibility for the baby, she said.

The babies, arranged for through the State Children's Home, are usually less than six months old when placed in the University home management houses at 1600 R and 3220 Starr.

A similar program is followed at the Illinois college. Ruth Schmalhausen, supervisor of home management courses for the school, said the baby lives in the residence which is used as a place of instruction for the home management course. Miss Schmalhausen said she is "sort of a grandmother" to the infant although the girls taking the course are responsible for attending to the baby's needs.

Unwed Mothers

Babies used by the Illinois school are the children of unwed mothers.

"The mother has to work for a living and otherwise would have had to board the baby out," Miss Schmalhausen said. "The baby is happy and normal. His environment is better than it would be in a real home because he experiences no psychological upheaval from the nervous reactions of parents."

Harmski objected because, he said, the baby is deprived of normal attachment to any one person such as its mother. He said he planned further investigation.

Dr. Schlaphoff said approximately three babies per year have lived in Nebraska home management houses since the course was begun. The babies receive regular care by a pediatrician, she said, and recommended practices for good child care are followed. The babies always gain at the top of the average rate per week, according to the chart, she said.

Parking Meters Get Record Loot

Record high parking meter receipts of $15,983.41 were reached in December of 1953.

The meter take averaged $11.08 for each of the 1,442 units in operation. In December of 1952, meter receipts totaled $13,100 for an average of $9.94 for each of the 1,462 meters in operation.

Total receipts for the calendar year 1953 are $154,000. This money is deposited with the city treasury and theoretically goes to the police department for traffic safety use. The money actually finds its way into the city's general fund.

For the first four months of the current fiscal year, Sept. 1 through Dec. 31, receipts total $59,467. At that rate, total receipts for the fiscal year ending Sept. 1, 1954 would be $178,000.

Pair Robbing Guard Sought By Officers

OMAHA (AP)—Detectives here were seeking two bandits who robbed a Federal building guard as he left the building for home.

Harry Herbert McAdon, 34, said he spotted the two men as he left the building and they followed him for two blocks. There one suddenly put a gun in his back and ordered him down an outside stairway. Then the second man placed a gun behind his ear, threatening to kill him if he struggled.

The bandits searched him and then fled with his billfold, containing $2.25.

Army Seeks Rule On Girl Smuggling

BERLIN (INS)—The U. S. Army checked its regulations Wednesday for provisions against frauken-smuggling to determine what, if any, disciplinary action should be taken against Pvt. Charles M. Goodman for trying to slip petite Marie Pawlick into Berlin in his barracks bag.

The 24-year-old soldier from Long Beach, Calif., was stopped Tuesday at the Helmstedt border checkpoint on the rail line from West Germany to Berlin when a U. S. MP happened to kick Goodman's barracks bag.

A squeal sounded from within the bag and the dark-haired, 18-year-old German girl emerged. Maria was last seen at Helmstedt, vowing she would slip through the iron curtain to Berlin somehow.

Goodman was back on duty in Berlin Wednesday, waiting to find out what his superiors intend to do about the case—if they have one.

In PURSUIT of HAPPINESS

By J. GORDON ROBERTS

The Odds against small business? Most small businessmen do not fear Big Business as they fear Big Government. They do not hesitate to meet Goliath, provided no one is hanging onto their arms.

The large corporation may employ outside research experts to investigate possibilities of new territories at a service cost prohibitive to small business—without question. Thus even the tempo of large-scale operations is not disturbed by such research.

The tycoon may legitimately travel in a private plane with pilot, co-pilot and, in fact, an entire staff. No questions are raised about how he spends the corporation's money so long as he is just an "employee", rather than "owner", even though he be an officer of the corporation.

Government finds entertainment a necessary part of maintaining both prestige and good-will. On my travels, I was informed that one embassy in South America spent $40,000 on decorations alone for a single affair.

The large corporation may hire charm-boys at one million bucks a year to sell the "personality" of the corporation through entertainment brought right into the living room by television. What happens, though, when the small operator provides some entertainment for his customers in his own living room?

The owner or principal stockholder of a small business may, in fact, find difficulty in obtaining a deduction even for club memberships fully as vital to his business as television to the world-wide corporation.

The principal assets of the small operator are his personal knowledge of his business and his own personality. Yet he may find it very hard to make full use of them.

He may find that as a practical matter, it is not worth the bother to avoid hiring someone else to do what he can do better, himself. Thus he must lose the benefit of a big advantage he has over his large competitor, besides incurring an expense which he may ill afford.

Many small businessmen have become disgusted and sold out.

Gasoline Tax Refunds

This paper questioned the wisdom of a gasoline tax refund for agricultural purposes at the time that the issue was at its most heated stage in legislative debate.

That was some years ago.

It does not do so today. More and more the farm operation has become mechanized. More and more the farmer depends upon gasoline in his daily work in the fields or in the farm home.

And in the last year, at least, farm income has dwindled, not to such an extent as to produce a crisis among the rural people, but at least enough to warrant the thought of all citizens. If we accept the view that a healthy, prosperous agriculture is one of the foundations upon which American life rests, then it is impossible to ignore the fact that what the farmer takes in is offset in an increasing degree by his mounting costs of operation.

State Auditor Ray Johnson points out that refunds of gasoline tax money to farmers are proving increasingly expensive to the state. In December the auditor's office issued 6,312 warrants in payment of refund claims aggregating only $350,533. The highway cash fund called for the issuance of only 4,530 warrants involving a payment of $2,272,540. Payments of all of the state's expenditures during December involved issuance of only 32,659 warrants.

There is a very casual example involving the mounting costs of state government. The services of a staff member are now required to perform the single task of issuing warrants against the state's general fund. It is reasonable to anticipate that gasoline tax refunds will increase both in number and in the aggregate cost.

Ike Bars Press So Aides Can Be Candid

WASHINGTON—What goes on at a White House meeting is always supposed to be a secret, unless the President himself decides to make it public. However, except during tenses-up war-times, no White House sessions have been cloaked in such secrecy as Ike's recent meetings with cabinet and capitol leaders on his legislative program.

The President has personally insured against leaks to the press by pointedly pledging everyone present to keep their lips buttoned. This is necessary, he explains, because a discussion at the meetings is "off the cuff" with a free and frank exchange of opinions on sometimes controversial subjects that might be misinterpreted if appearing in the press.

Naturally there will be differences in opinion regarding the legislative docket for Congress, the President points out, adding that he wants to be free to speak his mind with complete candor and that others at the meetings were entitled to the same privilege.

At one session, right after Eisenhower had finished his little speech on secrecy, GOP congressman Charley Halleck of Indiana caused gales of laughter.

You know, he said, "I never have any trouble keeping a secret. It's they people I tell it to who can't keep their mouths shut."

between the British and U. S. aeronautic authorities over British Comet jet airliners, which unfortunately now seems settled by the recent crash near Italy.

Civil aeronautics administrator Fred Lee had consistently refused to certify the Comet, which caused a storm of resentment in England. Pan American Airways has purchased three Comets from De Havilland for future delivery, but Lee had taken the position that the Comet had not proved itself sufficiently for American certification.

Specifically he had doubts about the ship's tendency to stall at low speeds and its instability in the air. Two of the subsequent seven crashes, at Karachi and Rome, have resulted from stalling. Following this week's crash, the British grounded all Comets. So, despite questions in the House of Commons, it looks as if Fred Lee had been right.

UNDER THE DOME

More private quotes on Ike's state of the union message: Ohio's statesman Sen. John Bricker, after applauding enthusiastically in front of TV cameras, snorted privately to Sen. Andy Schoeppel of Kansas: "I don't know what I'm doing around here. This is no place for me if that is Republican policy." ... Schoeppel nodded in agreement. ... Sen. John Butler of Maryland to Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska: "I guess we didn't vote for a change after all." ... It's no secret that McCarthy was once a flaming New Dealer and bitterly anti-Herbert Hoover. When McCarthy went to work for a Republican lawyer in Wisconsin, the Wau-paca County Post commented on Feb. 20, 1936: "We carefully padded (McCarthy's) brief case with a couple of copies of the New Masses, a recent edition of the Daily Worker, and a vest pocket sized 'D. Kapital'." ... This was a joking reference to the fact that McCarthy was a left-winger and his new Republican boss might not know about it.

KING COTTON DEBATE

Mother nature has had most to do with knocking congressional heads together regarding the biggest farm battle between the East and West—cotton quotas.

Last summer, California and the immediately cotton areas of Arizona and New Mexico were at loggerheads with old plantation states of Mississippi, Georgia and the Southeast. The latter were to have their cotton acreage cut only 25 per cent, while the far west was in for a 52 per cent cotton reduction.

This meant a loss of about $160,000,000 to the great central valley of California and was almost sure to bring economic setbacks. For the West started to become a really big cotton-producing area only recently, and the cotton-acreage quotas are based on the years 1947-49 and 1951-52. Thus the older cotton states, the preference.

Last summer, senators tried to work out a compromise readjustment of these quotas—without success. Congress adjourned. Still no agreement.

Note: The new cotton bill will increase quotas about 3,000,000 acres. Actually, the motive is politics and nothing else. The increase will ease the political situation all right, especially in the Far West, where California farmers are raging mad. But with a carryover of 5,064,000 bales from the 1952 crop, and an additional 2,714,000 bales of the 1953 crop probably unmarketed, this increase may cause trouble later. Experts believe we will have cotton running out of our ears at the end of 1954.

BRITISH COMET

A significant, sometimes acrid argument has been taking place

MARQUIS CHILDS

Red-West Struggle Becoming Economic

WASHINGTON—John Foster Dulles as secretary of state has a strong conviction of the vital importance of continuity in American foreign policy. It was in the framework of this essential continuity that Dulles put his latest analysis of policy changes in his speech before the Foreign Relations in New York.

What he said about the need for a mobile military force capable of quick shifts to meet aggression wherever it occurs makes good sense. He contrasted this with the costly effort to build strength frozen in place at every possible point of danger.

"The way to deter aggression," the secretary said, "is for the free community to be willing and able to respond vigorously at places and with means of its own choosing."

For both Europe and Asia this is a practical decision that can mean savings in the American military budget with no serious reduction of security. But even as this decision was taken by the National Security Council, it was becoming evident that the contest with Communism had changed in its principal emphasis from the military to the economic. That is to say that the threat is on balance greater through the growth of Communist parties, aided by all techniques on Communist infiltration, inside countries with weak and unstable governments and shaky economies.

Leading officials in the Eisenhower administration believe Communist China must be isolated from the non-Communist world insofar as can be enforced by non-recognition and blockade. The chief advocate of this course is Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs Walter Robertson holds the Radford view with intense conviction.

Since taking office, Radford has developed his line before many private groups including the National Security Council. He draws an analogy between Russia after the revolution of 1917 and China after the triumph of the Communist armies in 1949. After 1917 the West helped to build the technological strength of the Soviet Union. Particularly during the great depression the Western powers were ready and even eager to sell machines and skills to backward Russia. It was an American engineering firm that built the huge Dnieprostroi dam.

That, says Radford, must not happen in the wake of China's revolution. Everything short of actual aggression must be done to keep China from getting help from the West. A trade boycott must be invoked to keep out the machines China urgently needs to fulfill the Communist dream of swift industrialization.

This is a logical and consistent policy viewpoint. A good argument can be made that it is the best course to insure American security in Asia. But too often those who advocate this course ignore the clear implication that if it were to succeed, it would necessarily be accompanied by a vast concerted effort calling for large American expenditures.

Take Japan as illustration. The $3,000,000 or more Japanese on their tiny home islands must find an outlet for their manufactures or they will starve and no nation sits passively by and starves. If China is to be isolated and Japan cannot find markets there, then the United States must help with direct aid to build other currents of trade in non-Communist Asia.

Isolating Red China is, in short, not of itself a policy. Time is running out with no positive policy, the peril is that most of the rest of Asia will in the years ahead go Communist by default.

The Labrador, Big And Gentle

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

He is a guardian for Mom, hunting companion of Dad's, and a playmate for three-year-old Steve.

Little Steve says, "He is my buddy."

Dad says, "It isn't any fun hunting without him."

Mom says, "He's a thorough gentleman."

The Bernard Lemans of 5400 Randolph are all sold on the big black eight-year-old Labrador they affectionately call Rock.

Rock is the kind of dog that will climb through a 10-foot fence to be with his master; or slip into a hospital past the nurse at night to see his sick master.

Rock and Bernie began their love for hunting immediately after the dog was brought home at the age of three months. Bernie trained him to hunt all game. The dog developed into a brush-bustin', duck-crazy hunter.

It is a happy Rock when he can bull his way through the thorny brush hunting down a day's bag for Bernie. The pair seldom return home without getting their limit.

His master, a fisheries biologist for the State Game Commission, often takes to the water in boats to fish. Rock handles himself as well on water as on land. And if the boat does tip, Rock never fears as he is a strong swimmer.

While the Lemans were in Corvallis, Ore., Bernie organized the Willamette Valley Retriever Club. He was president when the club began with 30 members. When the Lemans left four years later, more than 125 members had joined the club. Not the least of the attractions of the club was Rock, who performed hunting demonstrations for the dogs of the new members.

Bernie proudly boasts to his family that his black Labrador has never lost a bird that he shot.

When Steve was born, he was accepted at once by the big but gentle dog. In fact, the child learned to stand up by holding on to Rock's neck chain.

And Rock was so trusted with the child that a special harness was made for him to pull Steve in his wagon. It was a common sight in Corvallis to see the sturdy black dog harnessed to a little red wagon as Steve and Rock would go after the daily paper in the mail box, a quarter of a mile away from the Lemans home.

Rock is well-trained in obedience. Once Bernie set dog food out in front of the Labrador and was about to give him the signal to eat when he was called to the telephone. It was a sheepish man and a very hungry dog when the Rock was found an hour later still waiting beside his food dish for the signal.

The Christmas Tree

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I have always felt sorry for the discarded Christmas tree, taken from its home in the forest, tagged and sold, praised and decorated—and finally hauled to the city dump. It seems to represent the sequence of many a human life.

They took me from my forest home
Where now my parents weep and moan
O'er what remains, a little stump,
The rest you see upon this dump.

My mother oft would point with pride
To stalwart dad as side by side
They stood so beautiful and true,
The handwork of God divine.

But my dear mother seemed to know,
And when the winter blizzards brought snow
Would bend and whisper in my ear,
"Methinks the yuletide season's near."

'Twas then she told of Mary mild,
The Mother of God's only Child,
Born to die to set free
On a wooden cross made from a tree.

And when they came to cut me down,
She smiled and did not even frown,
And the forest seemed to shout in glee
As it bid farewell to a Christmas tree.

Food And Communism

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The president of the U. N. General Assembly, sister of Premier Nehru of India, a few days ago addressed 900 boys and girls at the New York Mirror Youth Forum. Madame Pandit expressed wonderment that the people of the United States should be alarmed about Communism's taking over the country.

"You need have no worry about that," she said. "That never could happen in a country like this, where everyone has plenty to eat."

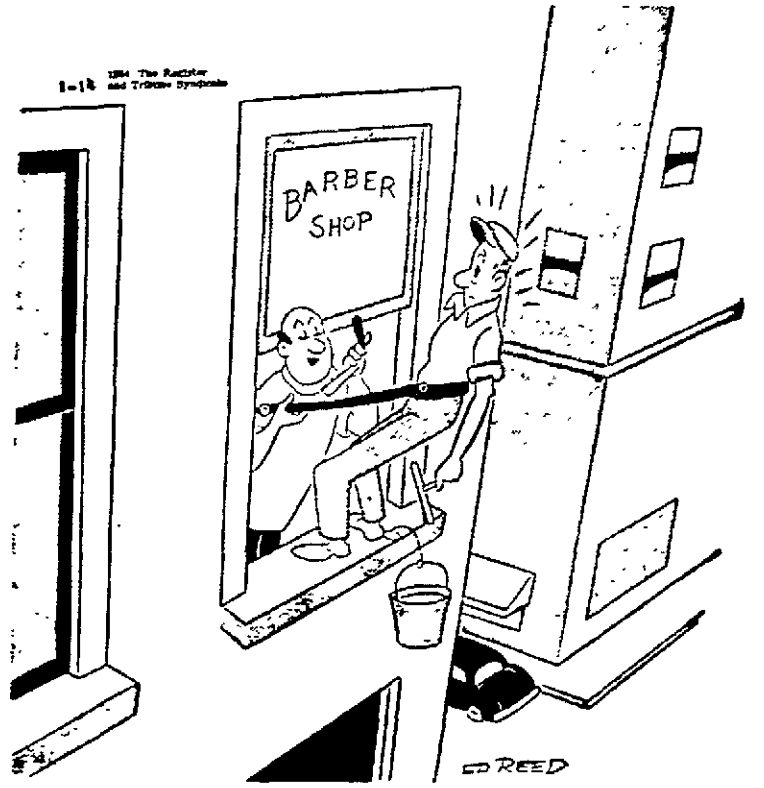

That statement bears a bit of reflection. Take Czechoslovakia, for instance. No country of Middle Europe was doing so well economically and otherwise. Did that prevent Communism from taking over? And by contrast look at Ireland, one of the poorest and most downtrodden of European countries. Has its poverty been inviting to Communists? Not at all. The statement that Communism is attractive only to the poor is simply not true. And we should be on our guard against accepting such a statement.

Madame Pandit says: "Communism is a threat only to the underprivileged areas of the world to which my country (India) belongs."

For one who is so endangered by Communism, Madame Pandit and her brother show a remarkable affinity for the beast. We hope those 900 boys and girls could see through the feeble argument.

Rewarding Hours

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I should like to offer my congratulations to The Star, along with others so far printed, for the series of articles on the "Value of a Liberal Education." I am sure that one would go a long way to find better statements of their points than some of the writers in this series have achieved. Indeed, in some cases the statements were so moving and so well written—I recall here especially those of Mr. Cohen and Miss Slotte—as to bring aesthetic pleasure in themselves.

It occurs to me that the community should be grateful as well

EDGAR A. GUEST —Poet Of The People—

THE GRACES
A, blazing fire in winter, and a garden in the spring.
A bed of pansy blossoms and a tree where robins sing.
Some trinkets in the corners of the little home we keep.
A few brave years of laughter and the tears that all must weep.
'Tis only these we gather through the time we have to live.
As soon as we shall discover these are all that life can give.

Though fame and wealth may lure us, though both of them we gain,
The home must ring with laughter or all the rest is vain.
And love must bid us welcome when all the struggle's done.
Or paltry are the prizes our skill have won.
And peace of mind must shield us from pangs of sharp regret
Or an instrument of torture will be anything we get.

So let's give some thought to tulips and the garden in the spring.
Let's take the time to listen when the robin redbreasts sing.
Let's plan the home for laughter, and let's not forget to keep The faith we shall be needing when it's time for us to weep.

For if there be no friendship, and loved ones cease to smile,
Then neither fame nor fortune for long can be worth while.

One Study To End Studies

Over the protest of some of his Council associates, Mayor Clark Jeary has requested the city's engineering department to review again its original cost estimates on retaining the little lake at 14th and Harrison Street.

The mayor's persistence in seeking to get at the full facts is most commendable.

The issue of preserving the Harrison Street Lake or draining it and filling it up is a little bit bigger than a neighborhood disagreement. There are a lot of people interested in the retention of the lake, a good many people who do not live a stone's throw from it, but people who believe it has recreational values as well as contributing to the natural beauty of one residential section of Lincoln.

The only argument in favor of eliminating the lake is one of economy, a type of argument which at this time carries a great deal of weight because the city itself has a lot of places where it can use its money to advantage. We assume that the figures can be made to show most convincingly that it would be wasteful to go ahead with storm sewer plans without the preliminary steps of filling in the lake and utilizing a portion of the site for that purpose.

Loss of the lake, however, would be a loss not only to the neighborhood but to all of Lincoln which has so little to offer in the way of natural water ponds and lakes. There is nothing at this time of such an urgent nature as to make Mayor Jeary's request to the city engineering department to review its cost estimates unreasonable. All of the Council members should be as much concerned as the mayor in light of the fact that park and recreation advisory boards as well as the Lincoln Council of Parents and Teachers have asked the Council to reconsider its action. That is the very least the Council can do, and we trust that it will do exactly that with somewhat more open-mindedness than has been revealed in previous discussions.

Paying The Price

The news that comes out of Asia is not comforting to the West. Despite our best overtures China is sinking more deeply into Communism. We seem not to have hit upon the right combination for peace and friendship there. And it is not a good outlook to find added millions lining up with democracy's adversaries. It speaks of more grievous problems in the future.

Isolationists would let China alone. But the policy of indifference has no better evidence of its failure than in the long years of relationship between the West and China itself. America needs to refresh its memory. With other western countries it was in China long before Communism raised its head. But it was a residency that took little interest in the problems of that suffering country.

One is inclined to weigh the alternatives had the West during the 50 years before Communism devoted an active and substantial interest in the improvement of China and the relief of its people; had it sought diligently and convincingly to impress upon the Chinese the bright promises of Democracy and the real friendship of the Western nations. But one is also forced to conclude that Communism moved into a vacuum. The first great opportunity to fill that vacuum with democratic reality was lost through the West's own failure. The Reds came second. Now the job is that much harder, albeit it no less necessary.

Local Governments

The state of Iowa is beginning to scrutinize its county and township governments, asking itself if those subdivisions, so little changed in their methods of administration and functions the past 80 years, are not due for some modernization.

The Iowa State Tax Association deals kindly with the principle of community government, but it believes it is being forced to live with wasteful and inefficient procedures because no one has bothered to liberate it from horse-and-buggy laws.

The problem of taxes and the management of public money and activities is a general one, not confined to Iowa alone. Not all of it will be solved by current concentration on tax structures and equalization, albeit such studies are in order. If the machinery and techniques of government no longer match the time's requirements of efficiency, a good deal of tax money deteriorates in losses.

Certainly Nebraska owes itself a look at its counties and townships, just as Iowa is doing. They are rapidly becoming the forgotten members of the government family. They are never greatly considered when it comes to allocation of duties with commensurate taxes. Nor do they hold the law-making power to change their own form and function, although the years have greatly changed the scope and nature of their services.

John Alden, 1954

The doctors are disagreeing over Nebraska's tax problem and what is the best remedy. But all sides are prefacing their remarks with the stipulation that the taxpayers themselves are strictly honest. They are in hearty agreement. But now that the subject is up it really seems that the only ones who can answer that question is the taxpayer himself. He will give the reply with what he does with his personal property assessment this coming March. Like history's John Alden it will be a time when he should speak for himself.

Of Men And Things

First responsibility of the American press, it can be said is an informed public. Any working newspaperman could testify that back of every action he takes is a zeal to uncover the facts.

News dispatches from Washington Wednesday, a city of continuing contradictions, described a familiar scene. The powerful House Ways and Means Committee, with sleeves rolled up, was hard at work revising the nation's tax laws—behind closed doors. If there is any single piece of legislation which affects the American citizen, it is that dealing with taxes. For taxes touch everybody. They hit those in the so-called low-income brackets. They reach into the pockets of the great middle class. They ride the backs of the rich. Now, when the LaFollette-Monroney plan for congressional reorganization was approved by Congress reducing the number of committees and otherwise streamlining congressional procedure, emphasis was placed upon the desirability of open or public hearings by the committees. Ultimate decision on whether hearings should be conducted in public or in an atmosphere of secrecy was left to the committee chairman and his associates. There was nothing mandatory in the recommendation for open hearings. In tax legislation the work generally has taken place behind closed doors.

Basic Knowledge Of Taxes

"Freedom of information" is a heartening, soul-warming phrase drawn upon so frequently in the discussion of government on the national level. It means little or nothing when the work of the House Ways and Means Committee takes place behind the locked doors of the committee room. People surely have the right to know why tax legislation takes the shape it frequently does. They have a right to know if there is any discrimination between different groups of taxpayers. It is not unreasonable to anticipate that if discriminatory treatment between different groups of taxpayers occurs, the name of the member sponsoring such provision or provisions will be made public along with the names of those supporting or opposing such provision or provisions.

Undoubtedly many of the decisions government is called upon to make affect the individual more profoundly than the frequent revisions which take place in tax legislation. But high taxes for more than a decade have had the tendency to make the man on the street infinitely more sensitive, for example, to what is written in a tax bill than to the Bricker amendment designed to limit the treaty-making authority of the Chief Executive. Congress itself talks a great deal about the atmosphere of secrecy in executive agencies of government while the committee burdened with the responsibility for determining the tax load to be borne by the individual receives testimony, weighs it carefully, and takes final action as to the distribution of the tax burdens between all mature American citizens. Two years ago we called to the attention of the chairman of the committee on freedom of information of the American Society of Newspaper Editors that by long practice, tax legislation was written behind closed doors. Newsmen may question committee members on what takes place at these executive sessions or they may try to hear through the keyhole. There should be a better opportunity to find out what goes on.

Most Of Us Live Day By Day

Necessarily the size of the House imposes an understandable restraint upon debate when the bill reaches the floor, and a limitation upon the attempts to amend it. In a very substantial sense, any tax bill is written in the committee, not on the floor of the House of Representatives.

U.S. Studying Plan To Outlaw Red Party

Brownell Backs Ike

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. reported Wednesday that the Justice Department is studying proposals to outlaw the Communist Party.

The attorney general also declared that President Eisenhower's proposal to strip persons convicted of conspiring to overthrow the government of their citizenship is "a constructive move" and a "sound" approach to root out subversion in the U.S.

Interviewed on NBC radio's "Report From the White House" program, Brownell was asked if he thought the Communist Party should be outlawed.

He said: "The President referred to us just within the last few days the question of studying these proposals that have been made. We will undertake that study and of course, wouldn't have any opinions to express until that study had been completed."

FBI Reports
Under more questioning, Brownell said the Justice Department has established a rule that in the future it "will not make FBI reports available" to congressional committees.

His statement was made in reply to a query about the Harry Dexter White case in which FBI files were made public to follow up Brownell's charge that White, although labeled by the FBI as a Soviet spy, was kept in a top government post. Former President Harry S. Truman said later that White was kept on to per-

1954 Home Show Slated

At Fairgrounds Apr. 8-11

The 1954 Home Show, sponsored by the Lincoln Builders Bureau, will be held April 8-11 at the State Fair Grounds, out-going President Clarence Frederick announced at the annual Home Builders Association dinner Wednesday night.

Membership of the association grew from 80 to 114 during 1953, he reported.

Retiring, hold-over and new members of the board of directors were honored. They are: James Watson and Ralph Peterson, retiring directors; Roy Kirsch, Fred Bookstrom, Jack Hyland, Richard White and Harold Fouts, hold-over members.

Van Ashmun, Robert Edgren and Stanley Haight, new members. Kirsch is the 1954 president; Hyland, vice president, and Fouts, treasurer.

Army Nurse Corps

Opens New Program

The Army Nurse Corps has announced a new program under which 250 civilian registered nurses will be accepted for training to earn a bachelor's or master's degree in any nursing field.

The selected applicants will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the Nurse Corps of the Army Reserve. They must complete requirements for the degree within one year at any of 144 colleges and universities granting nursing degrees. In exchange, they will be required to serve in the Army Nurse Corps for three years including time spent earning the degree.

New Standard Premium does what no other gasoline will do!

starts 10% faster!

Standard's new DE-ICER additive permits Standard scientists to "go the limit" in putting "light-end" molecules into winter gasoline. These start you faster than ever before—10% faster! Here's the fastest starting winter gas you can buy!

warms up 20% faster!

Warm-up capacity is now stepped up to the highest point in its history. DE-ICER additive permits this gas to carry a full charge of warm-up molecules. Warms your engine 20% faster than average of all other premium gasolines.

helps prevent ice in gas lines!

DE-ICER additive lowers the temperature at which condensation moisture in your fuel system will freeze. Use STANDARD Premium regularly all winter. Keep your tank well filled, and this DE-ICER additive will help you prevent trouble from ice in your gas lines.

prevents a major cause of stalling!

New STANDARD WHITE CROWN Premium Gasoline prevents stalling in traffic. DE-ICER additive prevents formation of carburetor ice—a major cause of engine stalling. On top of this great improvement this famous gasoline is now at the highest octane level in its history.

Plan To Sell Fort Robinson Buildings Again Delayed

Miller Asks For Reports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.) has obtained another delay in government plans to sell surplus buildings at Fort Robinson, Neb.

Miller now will seek favorable reports from Nebraska Gov. Robert Crosby and the State University on his bill to transfer the property to the state.

Miller said the General Services Administration has agreed to delay re-advertising for bids on the surplus buildings. He said he has informed Gov. Crosby and has asked for a favorable report from Crosby and the university on his bill.

Miller said the State Legislature has asked that the federal government transfer the property to the state. But the House Agriculture Committee will not act on his bill, Miller said, because of opposition from the governor and the university.

In his comment, the governor noted that the Legislature did not provide any funds for taking over the operations of the fort. The United States Department of Agriculture and the University of Nebraska are now jointly operating a cattle-breeding program at Fort Robinson, University officials, Miller said, have opposed his bill because of fear that transfer of the property to the state would eliminate the federal share of the costs of the cattle program. Miller said USDA officials have assured him that transfer of the property would have no effect on federal plans to continue this aid program.

Richardson Road Problems Told

LINCOLN Star Special
FALLS CITY—State Engineer L. N. Riss in an address before the Women's Road Committee of Richardson County discussed the problems peculiar to that area's highway system.

Riss stated that confronted with a decreasing population the county funds per capita for highway construction would be reduced.

The elements of a good highway system occur in the following order: bridges, culverts, grading and surfacing. A bridge will provide the same traffic service its fifth year as its first. A gravel surfaced road has a life expectancy of about four years, Richardson County, having two forks of one river, 2 creeks, six streams and various drainage basins, has about four times the state average of linear feet of bridge per mile. Proportionately more funds must be used here for bridge construction and maintenance than elsewhere in the state.

Riss quoted from a U. S. Bureau of Public Roads report which pointed out the prime element for travelability and durability of any road was drainage. Economy also dictates proper drainage which minimizes erosion, penetration, and scattering of the road surface. Considering the flow of water through the county, the problem of drainage is a focal point for local road improvement.

The solution for Richardson County's problems, Riss said, is found in their continuing their excellent policy of matching available Federal-Aid Secondary funds. Continued improvement by grading, draining, and gravel-surfacing the Federal-Aid Secondary system will place 90 per cent of the rural dwellings within two miles and 99.5 per cent within three miles of an adequate highway.

'Pitdown Hoax Only Partly So,' Says Oxford Professor

A visiting Oxford University professor of archeology said here that the "Pitdown hoax" is only partly a hoax.

Dr. Christopher Hawkes, was in Lincoln to present an illustrated public lecture, "Atlantic Europe and the Ancient Order," at the University of Nebraska.

"I believe the Pitdown skull is authentic," Dr. Hawkes said, although he jokingly referred to the jaw of the specimen as of too recent vintage to have knowledge of it. The jaw was discovered to have been taken from an ape.

Speaking philosophically, Dr. Hawkes said "on the whole it (the hoax) has much more for us all than we have lost."

The archeologist, who has been teaching at Harvard since September, has been president of the Prehistoric Society of Great Britain since 1950. He was formerly in charge of prehistoric and Romano-British antiquities in the British Museum of Natural History.

The Briton said that the "growing importance of aerial photography in archeology has enabled us to shorten painful ground research and enable more accurate measurements."

He believes that the best American technique and the best British technique in the field of archeology are about equal, although he added that "for some reason the European excavations seem to be more difficult."

Office stationery and supplies for the Lancaster County Courthouse will be purchased on the open market during 1954. This was ordered by the County Board since no bids were received on the estimated annual requirements of the various offices.

Flower growers from eight central states will be invited to attend the meeting, which the directors hope will become an annual affair.

Toll Road Possibility Promotes Figuring, Probing

Illinois' Decision Is Awaited

By E. E. MAKIESKY
Associated Press Writer

"What are the prospects of a toll road across Nebraska as a link in a cross-country turnpike running east and west?"

"No one can say for sure but there's going to be a lot of figuring, investigating, surveying, planning and talking in Nebraska in an effort to find the answer."

Gov. Crosby told the Nebraska Turnpike Authority at a recent organization meeting, Nebraska should get itself equipped "because toll roads might be coming this way." And State Engineer L. N. Ress urged that the state be ready to join any possible cross-country turnpike.

The Associated Press has surveyed cross-country turnpike activity to ascertain how it affects a possible westward extension through Nebraska. It was found toll highways are moving west at a rather rapid pace. Some long stretches have been completed, some are under construction, and some have been proposed.

In the not too distant future, the east-west superhighway will be right at Chicago's door and what happens from that point would affect Nebraska's future as a link in a cross-country superhighway.

Raymond E. McGrath of

Religious Leaders Look Over Literature

Looking at some religious books during a recess of the Nebraska Town and Country Church conference at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture are, left to right: the Rev. Donald A. Proett of the Czech Presbyterian Church at Wahoo, conference president; Mrs. Frederick Juils of Rising City; the Rev. E. J. Beckmann of Lincoln, American Lutheran Church; and the Rev. Arthur E. Schardt of Loveland, Colo., chairman of the central district rural life committee of the American Lutheran Church. (Star Photo)

Omaha, chairman of the Nebraska Turnpike Authority, has drawn attention to the importance of any possible action by the state of Illinois. Nebraska's course, he says, will depend a lot on what Illinois does when a toll road to be built across Indiana reaches the Chicago area.

In Illinois five routes are being considered as possible toll roads by the newly-organized Illinois Toll Road Commission. But Chairman Evan Howell emphasizes that no definite plans have yet been worked out and won't be until engineering and traffic studies are made.

Two of the possible routes mentioned by Howell line near Hammond, swinging around Chicago and northwest to Wisconsin, and from Chicago through Rock Island and Moline, connecting with Iowa.

Of the other three routes, one St. Louis Route would follow the general course of Illinois No. 1 down the Indiana line, another would run from Indianapolis across southern Illinois into the St. Louis area, and the third would parallel Route 66 from Mount Oliver, Ill., into St. Louis.

If Illinois should build toward St. Louis, Nebraska would be passed up as a link. But if there is a connection with Iowa, Nebraska is likely to figure in an east-west turnpike.

Meanwhile Missouri, whose

Rural Church Has Modern Difficulties

Changes in rural America have made the operation of the rural church more difficult.

This point was emphasized Wednesday at the opening session of the Nebraska Town and Country Church Conference. Nearly 100 ministers from throughout the state gathered at the College of Agriculture for the event.

Dr. M. L. Baker, associate director of the Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Stations, spoke to the group. The difficulties in operation of the rural church today, Baker said, arise because rural population has dropped 10 per cent since 1947 while the national population has actually increased nine per cent. As a result the rural church reaches farther to embody the membership than it has previously.

Baker pointed out the part which the Experiment Station plays in the work of the rural minister. He said a minister can find it profitable to keep himself informed of what goes on in the Experiment Stations.

Survey Urged

Herbert E. Stotts, from the Department of Sociology of Religion, Hliff School of Theology, Denver, Colo., discussed with the ministerial group State-wide Religious Census Surveys.

Stotts said that a religious census has not been taken since 1936, with the exception of Colorado and Montana. He emphasized the worth of such a survey and told the group how much a survey could be carried out in Nebraska.

Roger Richards, Nebraska's International Farm Youth Exchange from Orleans during the summer of 1953, presented a brief history of the IFYE program.

The Town and Country Church Conference will continue through Thursday. The conference is open to all church denominations interested in town and country church programs and activities.

Heart Attack Is Fatal For Frank Fernald, 62

OMAHA (P)—Frank Fernald, 62, claims department head for the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, died of a heart attack at his office here Wednesday.

A native of Minnesota, Fernald was a brother of Mary Larocca, late president of the society. He came to Omaha in 1933. Survivors include his widow, a son and brother.

Lutes Appointed Safety Specialist

The Nebraska Agricultural Extension Service has announced the appointment of William D. Lutes as a full time farm and home safety specialist. Lutes was born at Stapleton, Neb., and most of his youth was spent on a ranch or farm.

With this early training for a background he majored in vocational agriculture and qualified for a B.S. at the University of Nebraska in 1941.

"Bill" taught vocational agriculture at Wilcox, Lexington and Holdrege and served as assistant state supervisor in vocational agriculture from 1949 to 1953. In the spring of 1953 he received his master's degree in agriculture at N.U.

Lutes was vice president of the Nebraska Vocational Association's Ten-Year Club in 1953-54 and is the 1954 secretary-treasurer of the NVAA.

Both while teaching and in supervisory capacity, Lutes has made safety one of his prime activities. He helped build and activate the Nebraska FFA's safety program.

$3,000 Worth Of Liquor Is Carried Away

JACKSON, Neb. (P)—Burglars Wednesday forced entrance to Jake's Bar at Jackson and carried away assorted liquor valued at nearly $3,000.

Sheriff Tony Goodsell of Dakota City said the burglars cut glass in the front door of the bar, manipulated the lock, entered and then took the liquor.

Patrick Gill, bartender, said the burglars almost cleaned out the storeroom at the rear of the bar. The burglary was discovered by Don Hartnett, another bartender, when he arrived for work Wednesday.

The establishment is owned and operated by Jacob Sullivan.

Bayard Crash Fatal To One; Another Hurt

BRIDGEPORT, Neb. (P)—A Bridgeport man was killed and another seriously injured Wednesday when their car left the highway and crashed into a concrete culvert four miles east of South Bayard.

Dead is Jake Faessler Jr., Bridgeport.

Listed in fair condition at a Bridgeport hospital was Arlie Luckinbill, Bridgeport.

Authorities couldn't tell which was driving the car. Both men were thrown some distance from the demolished machine and Luckinbill was unable to make a statement. Luckinbill was found by a passing motorist and taken to a hospital. Faessler's body was found later by an officer sent out to investigate.

Rolls 220 Feet

The car traveled 314 feet before striking the concrete culvert and then started to roll into a field. It rolled another 220 feet.

The force of the crash almost disintegrated the car, which scattered pieces as it rolled. A 300-pound piece of the concrete abutment was moved 85 feet. Eight fence posts and 200 feet of fence were downed.

Faessler was identified by Safety Patrol Sgt. Dale Justice as the acquitted defendant in a motor vehicle homicide charge growing out of a Christmas Day accident in 1951 near Lisco which took the life of Ray Slaman, 34, Bridgeport.

Faessler's death was the 13th from Nebraska highway accidents this year. Last year there had been seven.

Superior To Host Irrigation Series

SUPERIOR, Neb. (P)—A series of irrigation meetings will be held here Jan. 20-22.

The main objectives of the sessions will be to answer questions on irrigation in the area. Other subjects to be discussed include fertility, crops under irrigation; soil conservation, corn root worm control, weed control and water requirements for various crops.

Speakers will include Paul Fischbach, district extension engineer; Harry Mulliner, work unit conservationist; Norris Enders, reclamation bureau agriculturalist; and Earl Bowen, Nuckolls County extension agent.

what has television done for newspaper reading?

• survey shows that TV INCREASES it!

For the fourth year in a row the Cunningham & Walsh independent "Videotown" survey shows that television set owners are spending more time with their newspapers than ever before!

It is clear that every medium—including TV, the newcomer—simply whets people's appetites for the full story.

In their newspaper they'll find the whole story about the fight they saw on TV last night. They'll read about the entertainers they watched... the debate they saw... or the educational program that was so interesting.

No matter what the source of news may be—an angry dictator across the sea, an earthquake in Mexico, a tennis match in Australia, a fire downtown, or a TV program in the living room—it's the newspaper that tells it all.

No wonder people are reading their newspapers more! No wonder advertisers are finding newspapers more productive than ever before!

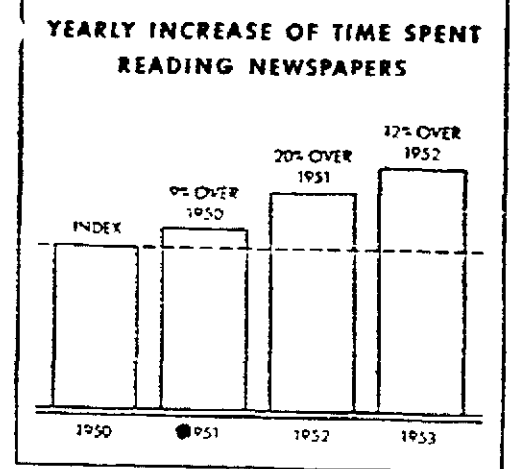

Chart is based on information drawn from "Videotown 6" survey by Cunningham & Walsh, New York, N. Y., nationally known advertising agency conducting this survey solely for the benefit of its clients.

'Political Feasibility' Disputed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Wednesday strongly defended his controversial 1954 farm program as a move toward farm prosperity but said time will tell whether it is politically feasible in a year of vital congressional election.

He does not regard himself, Eisenhower said, as too smart a politician.

The President spoke out at his news conference in terms which seemed to reflect the doubts of some of his party's members in Congress as to whether his farm program can be enacted this year.

But he said he is convinced his "flexible" system of price supports is right and will lead to farm prosperity.

Studies Cited

The chief executive went on to say he does not believe anybody can study the farm program as carefully as his administration has studied it and still believe that the present system of mandatory, high-level supports is either workable or helpful to the nation's farmers.

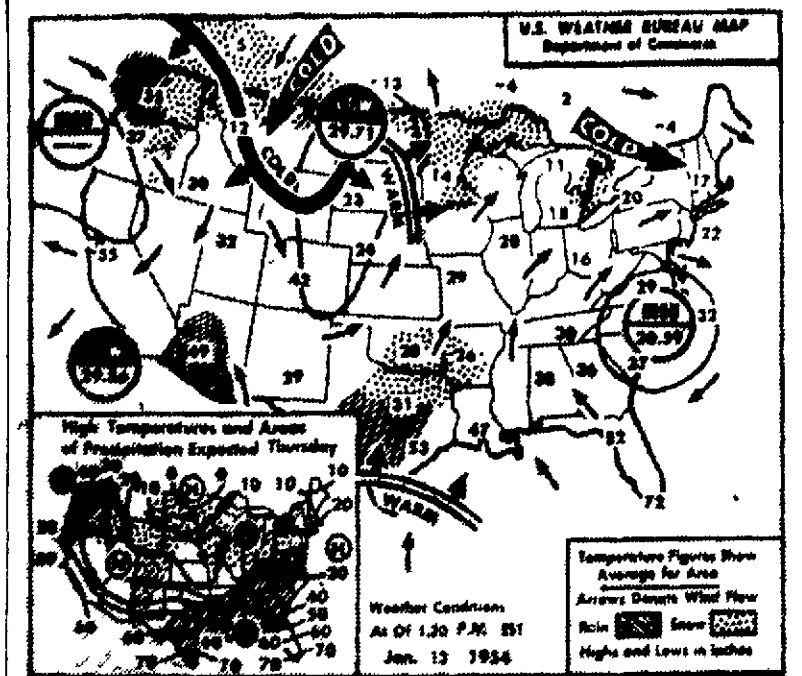

On the one hand, Chairman Aiken (R-Vt.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee expressed confidence that after the entire Eisenhower farm program is explained and understood, it will have strong support both from farmers and members of Congress.

On the other hand there were rising complaints from some farm belt legislators that the administration's program would hit the farmer when prices are down and give him an unneeded prop when prices rise.

McCarthy For Supports

On Capitol Hill, some Republicans with an eye on the November elections were talking up a proposal by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) to increase the range of price supports called for under the Eisenhower program.

McCarthy said that if a flexible support program is approved, it "should not go as low as 75 per cent, and it ought to go higher than 90 per cent, perhaps even above 100 per cent of parity. It should allow supports just as high above 100 per cent as it would allow supports below 90 per cent."

Cloudy And Possibly Snow

Except for partly cloudy skies over New England and the southwestern quarter of the country, cloudy weather will be the rule over the rest of the country Thursday. Precipitation is likely over most sections, ranging from rain along the north Pacific Coast to snow across the northern half of the country to the New England states and snow changing to sleet and freezing rain over the southern tier of states from the Atlantic Coast to Texas. Temperatures will moderate slightly in the lower Lakes region. A definite warming trend is indicated for the lower Mississippi Valley and Texas. A return to colder weather is likely over the lower Missouri Valley. (AP Wirephoto Map Wednesday Night.)

Feeder Cattle Decline 17 Pct.; Money-Losing Year Reflected

The State and Federal Crop Reporting Service said that an estimated 607,000 head of cattle were on feed in the state.

While this is but 87 per cent of the number last year it is the second highest total on record. Last year's 731,000 head was the record.

The bureau said "feeding this year is more in the hands of experienced feedlot operators as many feeders last year took a sharp loss in their operations and were not in position to feed again."

Even some of the commercial feedlots are not filled this year and are operating on a smaller scale. There is adequate grain for feeding, although the corn production was only 77 per cent as great as last year, the report commented.

16% To Market

Feeders indicated intention to market 16 per cent of the cattle in January, about the same

Cattlemen's Adjustment Win Praise

Benson Addresses National Meeting

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson told the nation's cattlemen Wednesday they are making adjustments in production needed to provide a healthy meat industry and to win customers.

By contrast, he said, producers of wheat, cotton, corn and some other crops are not making such adjustments because of inducements to over-produce provided by high, rigid government price supports.

Benson said the cattle industry, with government aid, has reduced beef cattle numbers to re-establish stability without piling up surpluses in government hands.

Reduction 'Right'

In a speech prepared for a meeting of the American National Cattlemen's Assn., the secretary said reduction in beef cattle numbers has been brought about in the "right way" — through increasing consumption of beef, and he continued:

"The 36 million head of cattle slaughtered in 1953 were quickly channeled to consumers' tables, not into storage. Because this meat went into stomachs, it is no longer a sword hanging over the head of the cattle industry."

The secretary said that through use of high, rigid supports for basic field crops—but not for cattle—"mountainous surpluses" of some farm products have been built up.

"At the same time, farm prices and incomes have continued the three-year downward trend that began after the post-Korea peak in February, 1951," he said.

Explaining that the cattle industry had operated without direct price supports, Benson said the task of stabilizing the cattle market is now easier than would have been thought possible a year or two ago.

Einspahr Granted Leave Of Absence

SEWARD, Neb.—Glenn C. Einspahr, director of public relations at Concordia Teachers College and High School, will begin a special leave of absence, Jan. 16, to serve as public relations director for the Nebraska Independent College Foundation, Inc., Lincoln.

The leave has been granted by the Concordia board of control and will extend to May 31, 1954. The Nebraska Independent Foundation was organized last summer for the purpose of acquainting businessmen and corporation leaders of the state with the part the independent liberal arts college has in the modern educational scene.

Einspahr has been a member of the Concordia faculty since July, 1950. He will continue to live in Seward and will commute to Lincoln.

Volunteers Will Meet Almost All Of January, February Draft Quotas

Volunteers will meet almost the entire January and February draft quotas for Nebraska, Lt. Col. Francis Drath, manpower chief for the State Selective Service, has announced.

At least 90 per cent of the January quota are volunteers, he said, and 99 per cent of the February quota will be volunteers. The January draft call was 162 and February, 130.

Twenty-one men from Cedar County who enlisted helped fill the January quota.

Col. Drath said one reason for the higher number of volunteers is that it is the slack season for employment, particularly on farms. Farmers entering service now will miss only two crop seasons, while those entering later in the year would lose part of a third crop season.

The national draft call for March is 18,000 men, which is the same as that for February. Gen. Guy N. Henninger, State Selective Service director, estimated that Nebraska's share of the March quota would be about the same as for February—between 130 and 135 men.

Reclamation Meet Will Open Jan. 27

WASHINGTON (P)—The National Reclamation Assn. announced that its board of directors will meet here three days beginning Jan. 27.

The board has one member from each of the 17 reclamation states.

The association's legislative committee will meet here for two days starting Jan. 25 to prepare recommendations for the directors and the lands limitations committee will also meet here Jan. 26.

William E. Welsh, secretary-manager, said the directors have scheduled meeting with Secretary of the Interior McKay and Reclamation Commissioner W. A. Dexheimer. They also expect to meet with several congressional committees and Maj. Gen. S. D. Sturgis Jr., chief of the Army engineers.

Dakota 'Honesty' Program Spreads

State Tax Commissioner George Peterson said Wednesday he had been informed the "Operation Honesty" pledge campaign in Dakota County will be extended to include all local subdivisions of government, including towns, school districts and townships as well as county offices.

Assessors in over half of the counties in the state are planning simultaneous meetings Friday morning to sign up supporters for the governor's campaign for better personal property assessments. At the same time these meetings are being held, State-house workers will gather in the Legislative chamber to sign pledge cards.

Peterson said he was informed by Dakota County Assessor F. A. Buser that the meeting at Dakota City will be Friday evening.

Dakota County Clerk Victor Hansen is assisting with plans for the Dakota City meeting, and Merle Haysner, former mayor of South Sioux City, will speak.

Brasier Appeals Case To State High Court

Notice of appeal to the State Supreme Court by George H. Brasier in his mandamus suit against the City of Lincoln has been filed in Lancaster District Court.

The District Court overruled a motion for new trial sought by Brasier in his suit to compel the Council to construct a water main to his property under a water district ordinance, which was later repealed by the city.

Wooden Spoon Names Board

Test tubes, chemical beakers and flasks were much in evidence Tuesday evening at the dinner-meeting of the Wooden Spoon, held at the Hotel Cornhusker, when the outgoing members of the board conducted the annual surprise selection of their successors in a skit depicting modern science. Although the creation of a new chemical formula may have been a little baffling, the results were very clear as the following new board was announced: seated from left to right, Miss Ruth Odell; Miss Nam Louise Guile; Miss Marie Weesner, president; Miss Irene Martin, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Kate Field. New board members not included in the picture are Mrs. Virginia Roberts and Miss Marguerite Klinker.

PTA'S Hear Faculty

The members of RILEY PTA met Tuesday afternoon at the school with Mrs. Frank Glick presiding. Mrs. Austin Brokaw was appointed secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Dorothy Schultz.

The faculty presented a program on the "Social Progress of the Children," which was followed by an open discussion.

In charge of the refreshment committee were Mrs. Evan Boaler, Mrs. L. R. Buehner, Mrs. John Hobbs, Mrs. J. B. Paramore, Mrs. Virgil Anderson and Mrs. Eugene Park.

Mrs. S. F. Darnell, vice president, presided at the meeting of HAYWARD PTA Tuesday afternoon at the school. Mrs. Phillip Knops, afternoon kindergarten class presented rhythm band selections.

The guest speakers for the afternoon included Mrs. Carolyn Kling, school nurse; Miss Norma Hansen, speech coordinator; and Robert Higgins, physical education instructor.

Refreshments were served by the mothers of third grade pupils.

HAVELOCK PTA met Tuesday evening at the school, with Mrs. Floyd G. Parker presiding at the meeting which had as its theme "Mothers' March on Polio." Mrs. John G. Bottorff, northeast area colonel for the polio fund campaign, was a guest at the meeting and told of the plans for the approaching fund drive.

Mrs. Clarence Smith presented the theme of the program in her talk "Mothers' March on Polio." Mrs. Clyde Johnson, chairman of safety and civil defense announced that classes in safety and civil defense would begin on Tuesday evening, Feb. 9—from 7 to 9.

Hostesses for the social hour that closed the meeting included Mrs. Robert Green, Mrs. Howard Els, Mrs. Gail Vanderholm, Mrs. Victor Moss, Mrs. Carl Larson, Mrs. Mark Foreman, Mrs. Clyde Johnson, Mrs. Howard Sand and Mrs. Charles Passieux. Mrs. Gene Robinson and Mrs. Paul Rosewell presided at the serving table.

The members of District 113, GARFIELD COMMUNITY PTA, met Monday evening at the school for a program of colored slides taken on their recent vacation trip by Mr. and Mrs. Don White.

A musical program was presented by Pamela Johnson, Trudy Johnson and Loretta

Plans Party

The Singer-Swingers Square Dance Club will meet for a "Winter Holiday" party on Friday evening at the Park School. The committee in charge of the arrangements includes Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Peeks.

IF YOU count Sunday as the first day—then five-sevenths of the current week is well on its way to being over—Of course if you are of the "Monday-is-the-first-day-of-the-week" school—then only four-sevenths are gone—You may take your choice—while mentioning things that seem to be dissolving quickly, how about the month? Half of it is gone, and it's really scarcely started—or so it seems.

BUT though days, weeks and months go—news always comes—and that's a nice thought for us on a cold dawn—This morning we are again involved with travelers and a guest or two—plus some news from Texas—and more from Boise, Idaho—

However, we have a little unfinished business from yesterday before we begin the current morning's offerings—It seems that the books were closed Wednesday morning just as we were getting well started on news of a party which the members of the Officers Wives club of the Naval Air Station, and their husbands gave for a group of Navy officers and their wives who soon are to leave Lincoln—We had mentioned that there was a dinner at the naval air station—but there was more, and here it is:

Following the dinner the remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing and the honorees were presented with going-away gifts. In charge of the party arrangements was Lieut. C. E. Stone, and on the dinner committee were Mrs. Stone, who served as chairman and Mrs. Walter Mitchell, Mrs. Merrill Hofer and Mrs. Samuel Kingery.

NEXT Monday evening the of-camp Fire Girls leaders cabinet, 9:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Harry Pagels, 1671 Pawnee.

ficers of the naval air station and their wives will be dinner hosts and hostesses at the Steak House, when they pay farewell courtesy to Capt. and Mrs. H. J. Murray who will be transferred from Lincoln early in February.

OUR guests are Mrs. Donald Lentz and her son, Mike, who came from Deshler a couple of days ago to spend the week in Lincoln, and to visit Mrs. Lentz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Brewster—But any visiting with Mrs. Brewster must be done at Lincoln General hospital where Mrs. Brewster has been a patient the past several days—Everyone will be happy to learn that she is much improved.

OFF to Tacoma, Wash., has gone Mrs. Alfred DuTeau who will spend a few weeks as the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Louis DuTeau, and her grandson, young Louis Alfred DuTeau who still is counting his birthdays by weeks.

FROM Boise, Idaho comes news of the arrival of Miss Parmelee Brooks on Tuesday, Jan. 12. The small Miss Parmelee, who was named for her paternal great-great-grandmother, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Brooks, and her mother is the former RosaLee Weatherfield, daughter of Mrs. Calvin Reed of Lincoln. The paternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Brooks.

THE NEWS from Texas tells us that Mr. and Mrs. Wilgus Eberly (she is the former Margaret Baker of Lincoln) will present a duo-piano recital-broadcast on Friday evening from 8:30 o'clock to 9 o'clock from station KRLLD, Dallas, Tex. Mrs. Eberly is a member of the Texas State College for Women music faculty.

ALREADY in Florida (Fort Lauderdale) are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Houchen and Mr. and Mrs. L. D. King.

Nursing Home Visitors Meet

Mrs. D. B. Marti will preside at a meeting of nursing home visitors to be held in the small dining room of the YWCA Friday afternoon. The meeting will follow a tray luncheon at noon, and will feature a talk at 1 o'clock by Dr. Garnet Larson of the University of Nebraska school of social work.

We Hear That--

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Beck returned earlier this week from Arizona where they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kiffen who had been in Tacoma, Wash., visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kiffen. The foursome spent two weeks in Phoenix and Tucson. Mr. and Mrs. Beck also spent a few days in Mexico.

Announcement has been made of the arrival of Patrick Joseph Clark on Thursday, Jan. 7, in Richland, Wash. Young Patrick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Clark Jr. His maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Francis G. Booth of Lincoln, and his paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Clark of Baton Rouge, La.

Craft Classes Begin

Registration opens next week for the new winter term of Lincoln YWCA craft classes which will begin the week of Jan. 25, as announced by Mrs.

Chauncey Smith and Mrs. J. J. Fieselman, co-chairmen of the Craft Center.

Mrs. Fieselman will conduct a class in ceramics, including pottery and clay modeling, glazing and firing, to be held at 1 o'clock Monday afternoons, beginning Jan. 25.

Drawing and painting, using water color, oil or pencil, will be taught by Mrs. Paul A. Royal at 9:30 o'clock, Tuesday mornings, beginning Jan. 26, and classes in textile painting, to be held at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoons, beginning Jan. 26, will be taught by Mrs. Raymond Williamson.

Courses in weaving for both beginners and advanced students will be conducted by Mrs. J. K. Mullen. Beginning Jan. 29, classes for beginners will be held at 9:30 o'clock Friday mornings, and advanced lessons will be given at 9:30 o'clock, Wednesday mornings, starting Jan. 27.

Lessons in designing metal articles and jewelry in copper and silver as well as stone setting and enameling will be offered at 1 o'clock, Thursday afternoons, and again at 7 o'clock Thursday evenings beginning Jan. 28, and classes in bridge, instructed by Mrs. Homer Honeywell, will be held at 7:30 o'clock, Tuesday evenings, starting Jan. 26.

New instructor for the photography classes, to be held at 7:30 o'clock, Tuesday evenings, will be Robert Dunn. All are 12 week courses with the exception of bridge and photography which will have 10-week terms.

Miss Freda Schmale and Mrs. Calvin H. Reed are new members of the craft committee which includes Mrs. Robert Molzer, Miss Mary McGahery, Mrs. Royal and Mrs. O. A. Reinhard. Edyth D. Holland is program director.

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

Do You Have That Lean Look?

By JOHN POWERS

Certainly not in my time has a spare tire ever been admired as an adjunct of the feminine figure. And never has fashion demanded a sparer midriff than in the silhouette decreed for the season ahead. Lean ribs and the slenderest of waists are necessary to cut a smart figure in this year's Easter parade.

Unless your waist is a good 10 inches smaller than both your bust and hip measurements, I hope this news will inspire you to action—the kind of action that consists of bending and twisting in the mid-section for at least 10 minutes a day. And don't think that a once-per-week workout totalling the same amount of elapsed time will give equally slimming effects. Daily hewing is what trims the figure. And here are the exercises to do it:

Daily Warm-up

Start with a warm-up, limbering action. Pull yourself tall as you can with feet spread apart. Raise your arms to shoulder level, fingers touching. Now, fast as you can and with as much freedom as possible, throw your arms around to the right as far as they will go, then to the left, to right, to the left. Let your movements be rhythmic and let your arms swing along with the centrifugal force that you generate. Count 25 swings and you are ready for the following:

Get down on the floor with your weight on your right knee and your left leg straight, pointed slightly ahead of your body. Bring your hands together over your head. Bend from the waist over your left leg (the one that is straight). Next, bend to your right and finally allow your right hand to reach down until it is flat on the floor, with your left hand flung toward the floor but above your head.

Now reverse the exercise, putting weight on your left knee and place your right leg so that it is straight and pointed a little ahead. With hands together over your head, bend from the waist over your right leg. Then bend to your left over your bent knee until your left hand rests flat on the floor, and your right hand flings in the same direction over your head.

Rhythm Gets Results

This is not a violent exercise, but it is a wonder when it comes to increasing suppleness, trimming the midriff, tapering the high part of the hip line and improving both grace and balance. Once you try it, I am sure you will enjoy the increased feeling of being able to co-ordinate. Start with five daily and gradually increase to 20. If you do your exercise to music, you will find the rhythm will speed your movements, which, in turn, will speed the shrinking of your measurements!

A Recipe File "Must"

Not everyone likes pie—and not everyone likes mince meat pie—But we'll wager that everyone, family and guests alike, will thoroughly enjoy this new mince meat dessert.

1 1/2 pkg. (9 oz.) of mince meat
1 cup lemon juice
2 tbsp. honey
4 egg whites
1 tsp. cream of tartar
1 tsp. salt
Vanilla ice cream

Here is what to do:

Break mince meat into small pieces in saucepan. Add lemon juice and honey. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Boil 1/2 minute. Cool. Beat egg whites until frothy; sprinkle cream of tartar and salt over surface. Continue to beat until stiff, but not dry. Carefully fold in cooled mince meat, a small amount at a time. Butter top of a 2-quart double boiler. Pour in mince meat mixture. Cover and cook over hot (not boiling) water for 1 hour. Spoon into individual serving dishes. Let ice cream soften to sauce consistency before serving time. Top each serving with ice cream sauce. Serve at once.

Your Reducing Diet

To put a little variety in your austerity schedule . . . that is, if you still are co-operating with the originators of National Weight Watchers' Week, Jan. 11-16 . . . here are the recipes we promised you for Creole Wax Beans, and for Crabmeat and Apple Salad.

Creole Wax Beans

3 c. cooked, sliced wax beans
1/2 c. grated carrots
Heat together in double broiler, for 10-15 min. Sprinkle with watercress before serving on warm platter. (36 cal. per serving)

Crabmeat and Apple Salad

3 c. cooked crabmeat
2 small red apples, diced
Blend crabmeat and apples with dressing; season to taste. Shred lettuce and place salad in center in bowl. (98 cal. per serving)

Reds Make New Peace Talk Offer

PANMUNJOM (Thursday) (AP) —Red newsmen said the Communists today rejected an apparent Allied attempt to meet in secret session and expunge the record of Red charges that blew up the planning talks for a Korean peace conference a month ago.

Instead, the Communists proposed a renewal Saturday of the planning talks, the Red correspondents said.

They quoted the U. S. spokesmen as saying the record should be corrected before any consideration be given to setting a time for renewed talks.

The proposal and answer were given at a meeting of liaison secretaries here today.

Angry Words
The planning talks were broken off Dec. 12 in an explosion of angry words and charges. The Communists accused the United States of conniving with South Korea in the release of 27,000 war prisoners before the armistice was signed. U. S. Envoy Arthur Dean walked out with a demand that the Reds must retract the charges.

The Allied stand today indicated the United States would be satisfied if the disputed passages were expunged from the record of previous meetings.

Red newsmen also said the Communists turned down a U. S. request for secret meetings of the secretaries.

The Communists have insisted with utmost firmness, at Panmunjom and over their official Peiping and Pyongyang Radios, that they never would retract or apologize for the charge of perfidy against the United States.

Time Only
The Reds stood firm on their position that they would discuss only a time for resuming the planning talks and that no other conditions were worth considering.

Communist source said the Allies had sent a note to the Reds this morning insisting that the secretaries must discuss conditions for resuming the preliminary talks.

The Reds answered that they were prepared to discuss only the time.

The State Department in Washington said it had sent new instructions but declined to say whether they insisted on a retraction of Red China's charge of "perfidy" against the United States. There was no immediate comment on this development here.

The big question was whether the United Nations command would back down. When U. S. Envoy Arthur Dean broke off the talks Dec. 12 he said he would not return until the Reds took back the charge.

As the diplomatic secretaries gathered, the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission went into session to debate an Indian plan which may call for releasing 72,500 unrepatriated prisoners even before the Jan. 23 deadline.

The Communists, who want the prisoners held until the peace conference settles their fate, were expected to be voted down by India, Sweden and Switzerland.

Realtors Hear Viaduct Fund Change Proposal
Miles Johnston, president of the Lincoln-Lancaster Safety Council discussed the Safety Council's proposal on reallocation of federal funds to construct a new O Street viaduct at the Lincoln Board of Realtors Wednesday noon at the Capital Hotel.

The Realtors voted to draw up a resolution approving the Safety Council proposal.

A motion expressing approval of Gov. Robert Crosby's "Operation Honesty" was also passed by the Realtors.

Evangelical Free Church OKs Building
Evangelical Free Church Wednesday night gave tentative approval to plans for building a new church at 56th and Gladstone.

The Church, a home station of the Midwest Conference which has been established in Lincoln only a year and a half, received a total of $4,375.16 from all departments, the Rev. James Leonard reported at the annual meeting Wednesday night.

The congregation gave approximately $1,000 to missions. Church officers elected at the meeting:

Ritchie Tale On Assault Questioned

... Hoax Is Hinted

DETROIT (AP)—Authorities moved Wednesday night to find whether Donald Ritchie definitely has the key to a solution of the Walter Reuther shooting or is the perpetrator of a spectacular hoax.

A question remained, however, whether the questioning will be done in Detroit or across the international boundary in Windsor, Ont. Ritchie balked at crossing into the United States and wanted to see a lawyer.

Earlier, however, he had waived extradition at Preston, Ont., where he surrendered early Wednesday after a five-day flight from protective police custody.

Ontario authorities at the border said the Preston magistrate didn't have proper power to accept the waiver. Then Ritchie asked for a lawyer.

The lawyer, Donald Morand, of Windsor, said he had clear and definite instructions from Ritchie to oppose extradition.

Essex Jail
Bruce MacDonald, crown attorney, asked that Ritchie be remanded to the Essex county jail for eight days.

Judge Albert J. Gordon granted the remand until Jan. 21. Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien, in Detroit, said he has not made up his mind on seeking a continuance of an examination, scheduled Thursday, for one of the four men named by Ritchie as participants in the Reuther assassination attempt.

Ritchie, now a defendant to an assault to kill warrant in the April 20, 1948, attempted assassination of the CIO president, then newly elected chief of the CIO United Automobile Workers.

Ritchie volunteered information that led a week ago to a warrant charging four men with conspiracy and assault with intent to murder.

Long Beach Jet Crash Toll Now 8
... Injured Child Dies
LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) —The Air Force said a pilot's disorientation, or loss of his sense of position, may have caused a Sabre jet crash in a residential area which resulted in seven deaths Tuesday and another Wednesday.

Edward Lynn Ledbetter, 4 months, died Wednesday of burns suffered when the plunking plane demolished his house, set fire to a third and damaged a fourth in the Signal Hill district.

The child's mother, Mrs. Shirley Ledbetter, 25, was decapitated. His father, Edward, 24, is in critical condition from burns.

Air Force officers said the pilot, Maj. Robert A. Blair, 29, Omaha, Neb., who died at the controls, did not violate any flying regulations.

This followed sharp remarks by the Long Beach city director of aeronautics, Glenn L. Arbogast. He said Maj. Blair and a companion flyer, Lt. John Brown, were advised by the Long Beach Municipal Airport control tower to make a right hand turn toward an open area as they approached through rain clouds for an emergency landing but turned left instead.

Col. L. F. Lightner, chief of staff, continental division, Military Air Transport Service, flew here with other officers from San Antonio, Tex., to investigate.

He said Blair "ran into low clouds over Signal Hill. Something happened. We believe he lost orientation in the rain cloud and ran into the ground sideways. There is no evidence of mechanical failure."

Brown landed safely a few minutes later.

Other victims included: Mrs. Shirley Roberts and her infant son, Douglas; Stephen L. Shoup, 11, and Mrs. Grace Miller, 63, and Ernest G. Bailey, 72, a spectator who died of a heart attack.

In addition to investigation by Col. Lightner's party, the Air Force ordered an inquiry board to convene Friday.

Our Saviour's Lutheran Ups Membership
An increase of baptized members from 153 to 204 was announced Wednesday night at the annual meeting of Our Saviour's Lutheran Church by Rev. James W. Olson, pastor since Aug. 30.

An increase in Sunday School membership from 54 to about 100 was also announced.

During the past year the church paid more than $6,000 in debt retirement, and the budget for 1954 was set at $7,431, including $1,259 for benevolences.

The church established a board of parish education, to consist of the superintendent and assistant superintendent of the Sunday School plus three persons to be appointed by the church council and pastor. The church also voted approval for a parish secretary for at least three months.

Adolph Nielsen was re-elected president of the congregation. Other officers named were: Donald Vaher, secretary; Helge Lauridsen, treasurer; Emerald Hansen, trustee; Arne Rask, deacon; Kenneth Hatt, financial secretary; Keith Knudsen, Sunday School superintendent; Miss Anne Christiansen, organist.

First Presbyterian Church's New Youth, Educational Additions In Use
It was reported to the annual meeting of the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday night that the new youth and educational addition has been completed and is now in use.

Dr. C. Vin White, pastor, reported that the church membership increased by 134 persons during 1953.

Officers elected at the meeting were: Elders: Knute O. Broady, Len J. Davis, Otto Swartz, Kenneth L. Halseth, Elmer W. Janicke, R. Ralph Lowden, Arne M. Myers, Frank E. Whymar, Charles V. Carlson, Eber C. Tice.

Board of Trustees for Foundation Board: Scott B. Dierckx Jr., Thomas J. Dierckx Jr., A. Francis, Clifford M. Hicks, Mrs. Joseph S. Hill, Mrs. James W. Rasmussen, Lawrence E. Labors, Mrs. Joseph Mohrman, Clarence M. Peterson, Martin Springer, Clifford G. Weston, Horace Whitlock.

Board of Deacons: Warren B. Baker, Donald Clark, Roland Lofting, James Ross, Homer, Donald D. Vahlstrom, J. F. Christensen, Gerald Dierckx, Dale R. Starnood, Elmer A. Fremont, Frederick Scholze.

Lovre Slaps REA 'Political Football'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Republican Congressman Wednesday denounced what he called determined efforts to make a political football out of the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) program.

In an address prepared for delivery at the annual convention of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Assn. Rep. Lovre (R SD) said:

"Individuals and groups, with authority to speak for neither of the major political parties, have tried to make it appear that the present administration was talking with tongue in cheek when it drafted a party platform that pledged its continued support for rural electrification.

"The REA program, these self appointed spokesmen have said, is being scuttled. The farmers, they have said, are being sold down the river.

Program Improved

"What are the facts? The simple, straightforward fact is that during the past 12 months, under the present administration, the REA program has been strengthened and improved and carried forward with fresh vigor and renewed determination."

He denied that there is any truth to claims that the government plans to raise interest rates or sell the electric co-operatives to private utilities.

Lovre assured the REA delegates that Congress would not raise REA interest rates and said that only the various boards of

Glenvil's Ace Is Star Of Week

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

The Star's first Star of the Week this basketball year is a 5-10 Glenvil forward who shot his team to an overtime triumph over an important opponent and lifted the squad to the top of the Class D field. Rich Hinrichs hit a basket in the extra period at Trumbull last week, boosted his game total to 27 points, earned a 63-61 victory for the unbeaten Bulldogs, and

Concordia Ace

Leading the Concordia College team in scoring and rebounding after seven games is Guard Norm Carlson with 92 points and 57 rebounds. He is from Winfield, Kan.

knocked Trumbull into the field of conquered squads.

Among other Glenvil players who worked well that night was Larry Hinrichs, a cousin who scored 24 points.

Nebraskans saw these boys and many others in sharp performance last week. Some who shone were:

Dale Frahm, Dorchester boy who hit 28 points in a wild game at Exeter.

Paul Leach, the Southeast small man who was an exceptionally sharp shooter in the hands of a Hastings' Tiger in the big upset of the week.

Jim Jacques, capable center who continued to lead Plattsmouth past southeast Nebraska foes. He scored 29 points against Platteville.

Delaney Decker, senior Hubbell forward who scored 24 points against Alameda look big despite the Hubbell defeat.

Gale Hirsch, the Diller center who covered the boards well against Steele City.

Ray Klous, Seward's versatile athlete who led another Bluejay triumph, this one over Aurora.

Cliff Betschelder, 6-2 Deshler transfer who scored 19 points moved Hibon past Fairbury as the B club continued to roll.

Al Zank, last of the fabulous family and leading scorer as Omaha lost in a little effort at Slickley. Zank had 24 points.

Al Graves, the Lincoln center whose scoring feats have stunned opponents of the Red and Black this winter. His 18 against strong Omaha Tech was the big number which dropped the Maroons.

Dave Smith, the Nelson boy who came through with 12 points in an upset of Reynolds, Class D leader at the time.

Dwayne Kubick, one of the balanced Weston squad which is near the D pinnacle. He led the victory against Ceresco.

Tom Hoffman, one more player who did a good job for a losing team. His 16 points for Wilber pushed Salton.

Al Tabe, whose work in three games sparked Graham to the title in the Little Six Conference tournament.

Dikes Improved

Improvement of the flood dikes protecting the southern portion of the Niobrara State Park from the Niobrara River has been completed according to Eugene Baker, supervisor of the Game Commission's Construction and Engineering Division. Baker said eroded sections of the old dike were filled and the entire system was raised approximately two and a half feet to protect park installations and improvements.

Jim Tatum Denies Rumor Of Offer

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Jim Tatum said late Wednesday he had "not been offered" the job as football coach at North Carolina State College and that he had no intention of leaving the University of Maryland.

Tatum was in conference here for more than five hours with state officials seeking a new head coach for the school.

When he left the conference room, he told reporters:

"There is absolutely nothing to the report that I told North Carolina State my terms would be $20,000 and a 10-year contract. I do not believe in contracts. I am perfectly happy at Maryland. Somebody has the wrong idea about this meeting. I am here in an advisory capacity only — to help State set up a good athletic organization."

Student Manager

Tom Tobin, junior from Tekamah, has been named student manager of the Nebraska basketball team, Coach Harry Good announced. Eddie Kaplan, manager through the first 11 games, dropped out of school, Good said.

Solly Hemus lost the batting championship of the Pioneer League by .0001 in 1946.

Connolly Retires

CHICAGO (AP)—Thomas H. Connolly retired Wednesday as the American League's umpire-in-chief, ending an officiating career that spans the entire lifetime of the league.

The retirement was announced by Will Harridge, president.

The little Irishman, now 83, was behind the plate the day the American League played its first game, between Cleveland and Chicago at the old White Sox park, in 1901.

Thereafter he called 'em for more than 30 years on the various diamonds and became umpire-in-chief in 1931.

Ice Fishing Opens In Nebraska Hills

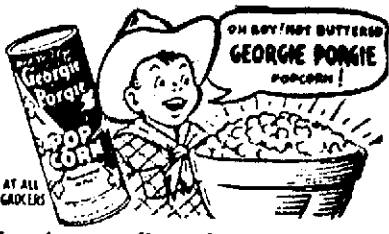

Ice fishing, the popular winter sport of many Nebraskans, has opened in the Sandhill area.

A report from the lake area, south of Valentine indicates that good crappie are being taken through the ice on some lakes.

While crappie and perch are the species most often taken by ice fishing methods, bluegill, bass and bullheads are caught also.

Favorite bait is live minnows, although liver, beef and other individual favorites often produce for the ice fisherman.

Jeary, Chamber Lash Half-Fare Bus Rates To Omaha

... Greyhound Officials To Discuss Matter With Lincoln

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Mayor Clark Jeary has lashed out in protest to authorization given by the State Railway Commission to American and Greyhound bus lines to make eight "shoppers" trips from 47 Nebraska towns to Omaha this month and next month for adult women only and at half price.

And in separate action, the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce board of directors has expressed "concern" over the rate and asked the Commission to "review its action in this matter, looking to the possibility of illegal discriminatory rates and taking such action immediately as is required by law to remedy the situation."

State Railway Commission Chairman Joe Brown stated the cut-rate bus trips are strictly "experimental." He added that he felt there were no grounds for controversy concerning the trips.

'About Face'

"The commission is constantly criticized for raising the rates on utilities—well, this is one time we lowered them," Brown said, "and look what's happening."

Brown said that the program was not originated by the commission and he added that any city could probably come to the same terms with the bus companies, if the shoppers' trips prove to be a "good thing."

The runs would be made only on Tuesdays and Wednesdays and the women would have to board the bus back to their home towns before midnight on Wednesdays for the round trip ticket, sold for the price of one-way fare, to be effective. The trips, from towns in southeastern and northeastern Nebraska, were inaugurated Jan. 12 and scheduled to continue Jan. 13, 19, 20, 26, and 27 and Feb. 2 and 3.

Flat Reduction

"In my opinion," said Jeary, "such procedure is in direct violation of both the letter and spirit of the regulatory statutes pertaining to rates charged by transportation companies. . . Perhaps a new look at the situation will cause them (the bus companies) to ask for withdrawal of the order."

"If such action is not taken, I intend to ask all cities and towns involved to join me in asking the attorney general to file a petition with the Railway Commission to cut all interstate bus rates by 50 per cent."

Jeary stated that the first he knew about the order was when he read it in the newspaper and "it made my blood boil," he said. The mayor not only attacked the order as discrimination against certain towns but as discrimination against male shoppers.

He cited what he said was "an apparent oversight of the fact that males also shop and there appears to be no valid reasons why females be preferred for reduced rates over men. I am of the opinion that the bus companies, if they initiated the reduced rate matter, failed to give it very much study."

'Lincoln Best'

And any indication the Commission order may have given to the effect that women shoppers prefer Omaha stores was sharply discredited by the Lincoln mayor.

"It has been rumored for many years," said Jeary, "that more Omaha women come to Lincoln to patronize our fine stores than Lincoln women go to Omaha for the same purpose. It (the order), therefore, is a discrimination against Omaha women who want to go to Lincoln, Grand Island or other cities effected."

After the first two days of operation under the half fare rate, bus company officials were still uncertain over the success of the venture. Both Greyhound and American officials stated, however, that the operation shows signs of success.

Both lines also agreed that the venture was experimental only and if successful, might be set up for Lincoln and other towns. They firmly denied there was any intent of discrimination and stated the plan was purely an effort to increase travel by bus rather than private automobiles and was not aimed at increasing trade in any particular town.

Omaha Greyhound officials are to be in Lincoln Thursday to discuss the matter with Chamber of Commerce officers here.

The Lincoln Chamber stated that its board feels the "rates are eminently unfair to all the fine shopping centers in all the other good Nebraska cities which are not given similar rate advantages. The Chamber reported it has also been advised that the Lincoln Promotion Council is in full agreement with the Chamber's position.

It was noted by Jeary that "in many areas where these passengers board buses (for Omaha), the merchants of such cities and towns are on a competitive basis with the merchants of Omaha."

Discrimination

"While Lincoln relationships on all matters with Omaha have been very friendly and my personal relationships with the mayor and other Omaha officials have been on a high plane, I feel the order entered by the Railway Commission is a discrimination and constitutes permission of use of public highways for bus travel that it is not permitted by the rate statutes nor, is it conducive to good relationships between various cities and towns concerned."

"If the bus companies are making so much money they can afford to transport passengers from Lincoln and other towns to Omaha for half fare, by the same token, they can afford to transport people from Omaha to Lincoln at reduced rates."

It should be borne in mind that the Commission was originally established to prevent this very thing—discrimination as between communities in rate making."

The special rates will be effective from the following towns:

Enjoy rain-water softness for all your washing... use

NEW ARMOUR suds WITH TRI-POLLY

...THE BUILT-IN WATER SOFTENER!

You need it... You'll love it... here's WHY!

Most of the water in this area is hard water, containing minerals such as calcium and magnesium. When ordinary washday soaps are used in it they combine with the hard water minerals to form a "soap scum." This scum gets trapped in the fibers of your clothes and makes them look dull and gray.

New Armour Suds with Tri-Polly leaves your water soft as mineral-free rain-water, because it neutralizes the minerals, locks them up so they can't form clothes-graying soap scum. This, plus Armour Suds' brightening agent, is the reason your clothes wash brighter than new, and in half the usual time.

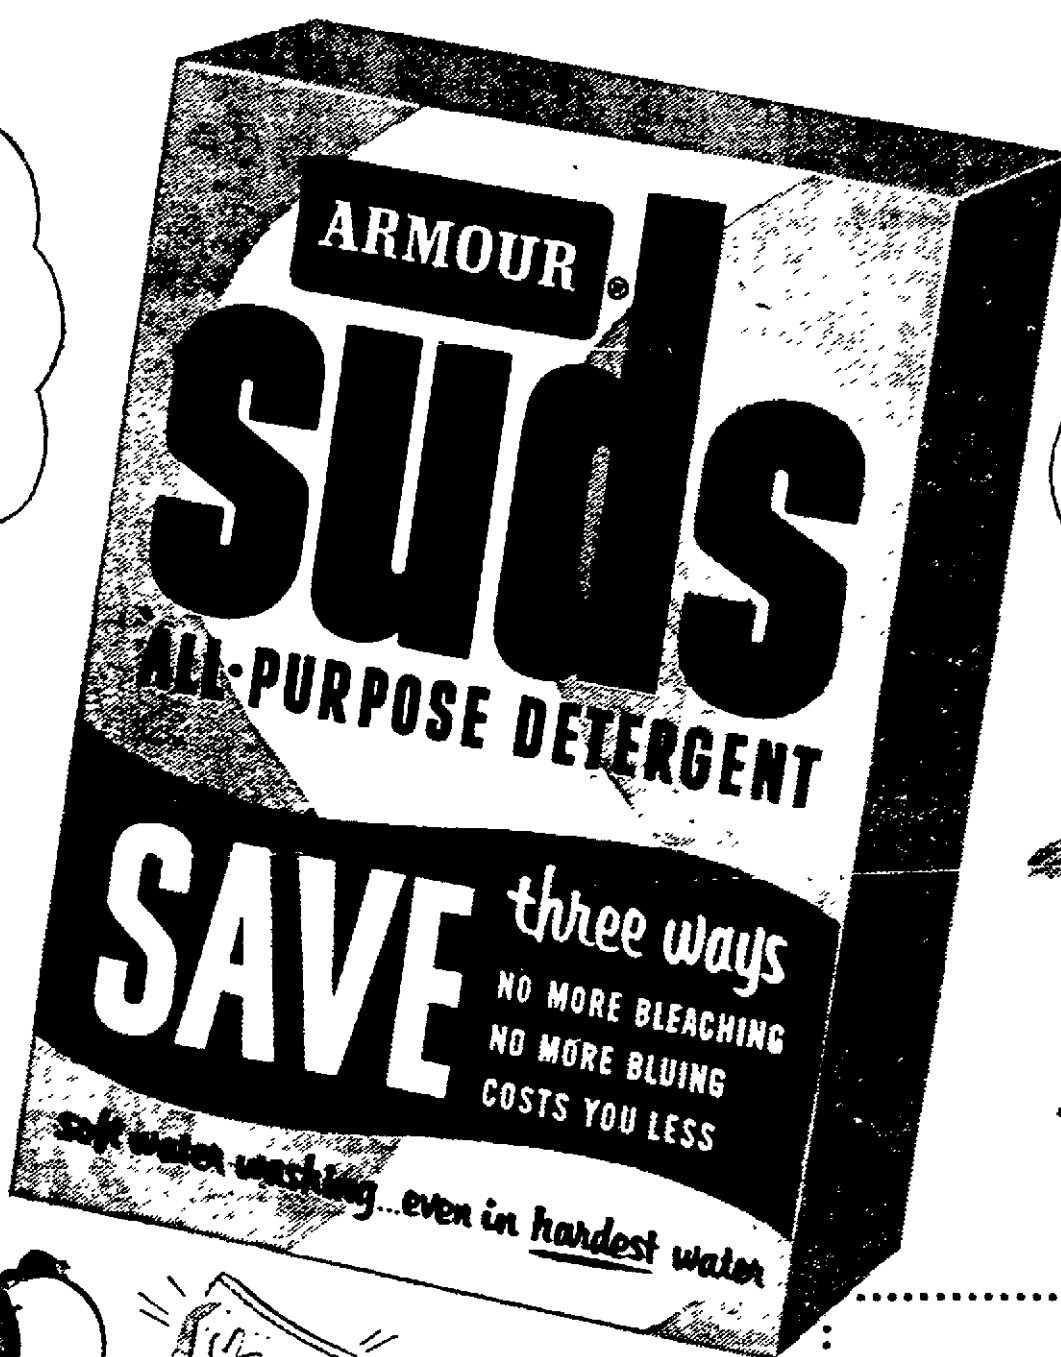

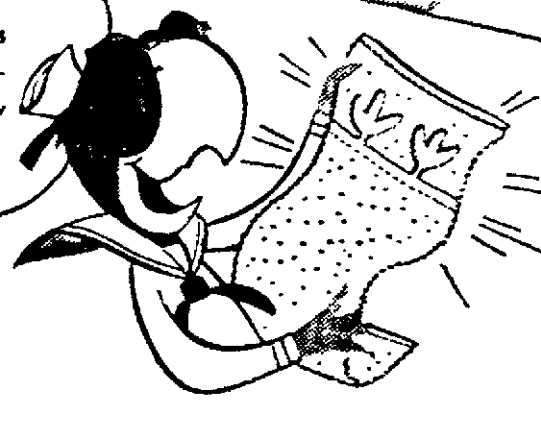

Cuts Your Washing Time in Two!

Set your washing machine at 8 minutes instead of 15. Armour Suds with Tri-Polly cleans in half the time, with half the washing wear.

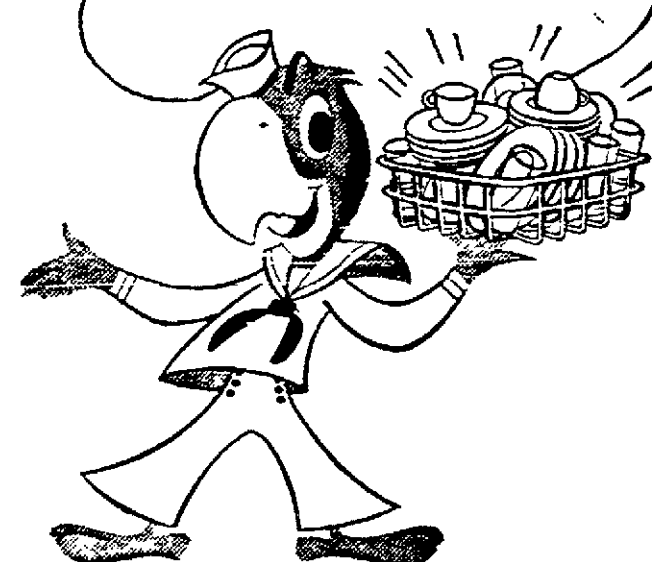

Gets Clothes Brighter than New!

Armour Suds with Tri-Polly removes soil completely... then its brightening agent gives a brighter than new sparkle to clothes.

Faster Dishwashing For You!

Armour Suds' high wetting power penetrates and floats the food away without scrubbing. Dishes drain sparkling dry. And soft water is so kind to hands!

ARMOUR'S PLEDGE TO YOU!

If you don't find your clothes and dishes wash faster, cleaner, with new Armour Suds, we'll quickly return your money.

Weeks Statement Hints Of Offer To Do Business With Red Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks, in what looked like a cautious offer to do business with Russia and her European satellites, said Wednesday "it has been and still is" U. S. policy to approve non-strategic exports to Red Europe.

Weeks' policy statement came in the midst of a hubbub over a Minnesota soybean oil producer's proposal to the Commerce Department that it license the export from government-owned surplus stocks of 3,000 tons of cottonseed oil and butter for the benefit of Russia.

Weeks said in his report that "to a considerable degree" the small amount of trade with Soviet Russia has been due to "a lack of interest on the part of the Soviet bloc in obtaining non-strategic and consumer type goods" rather than to U. S. restrictions.

It was this statement in the report which appeared to be an invitation to Red nations in Europe to buy American goods that are not on the restricted list. It was notable, in connection with Russia's recently announced intention of providing her people with more consumer goods, that Weeks specifically mentioned "consumer type goods" as being available.

Weeks emphasized that trade with Red China and North Korea is totally banned.

Weeks said some $1,732,590 worth of non-strategic goods were licensed to European Soviet bloc destinations in the twelve months from Oct. 1, 1952, through Sept. 30, 1953.

Tobacco and Cigarettes made U. S. exports to Red Europe during the months of April, May and June, 1953, Weeks said. The balance was largely second hand clothing and nonstrategic commodities.

In an interview here Wednesday, Andreas said he is asking the Commerce Department to approve export of "upwards of 100,000 tons" of cottonseed oil and butter. He would not specify the destination but did not deny a statement by an informed government source Tuesday night that the commodities would go to Soviet Russia and one of her European allies.

James Edwards, 36, Macy, altering check, Scotts Bluff County, three to ten years, 1952; commuted.

Marion Hubbert, 39, Gering, forgery and violation bench parole, Scotts Bluff County, two to three years, 1952; pardoned.

Peter James-Lose-To-Lodge, 36, Pine Ridge, S. D., forgery, Sheridan, 18 months to three years, 1952; commuted.

Robert Lavallo, 53, Omaha, received full pardon from three year sentence from Douglas County in 1937 on a rape charge.

Reformatory Cases

Kenneth J. McAllister, 23, Madrid, La., armed robbery, Colfax County, four years, 1949; pardoned.

James K. McCoy, 21, McAlester, Okla., felonious-NB, building, Dawson, three years, 1951; pardoned.

Roy H. Stevens, 19, Omaha, breaking and entering, auto, Douglas, two years, 1952; pardoned.

James B. Howard, 27, Dalton, Ga., stealing auto, Lancaster, one to three years, 1952; pardoned.

Gene Mension, 26, Bradshaw, no fund check, Lancaster, one to two years, 1952; pardoned.

Lefroy Perry, 23, Lincoln, uttering forged instrument, Lancaster, two to five years, 1952; pardoned.

Francis Sawyer, 28, Lincoln, larceny as bailee, Lancaster, one to three years, 1952; pardoned.

Bernard Pushman, 19, North Platte, burglary, Lincoln County, two and one-half to three and one-half years, 1951; pardoned.

There was no opposition to the granting of the clemency request and a number of Lincoln residents, long acquainted with the family, appeared in his behalf.

Testimony was that Cramer quit school when 15 years of age to assist his father on their 811 acre Harlan County farm and that when his father retired he took over management. He was described as an exceptionally hard worker to make a success of the operation.

Hauled Stock

In addition to farming, it was said he frequently hauled stock to market nights to bring in added revenue.

He was charged with putting strychnine in the baby's formula. His wife obtained a divorce in 1947 and is said to have remarried.

Clemency was denied after a hearing in 1951, but Gov. Val Peterson, then a board member, is said to have recommended that clemency be considered at the expiration of 10 years.

The board deferred action for six months on the plea of Guy E. McCoy, 27, Omaha, has completed a 10-year sentence for auto theft and is now serving two additional years for escaping from the reformatory and another auto theft.

Actions taken by the board:

Penitentiary Cases

Ramsey Charrins, 33, Pine Ridge, S. D., escaping jail and auto theft, Antelope County, three and seven years, received at penitentiary, 1949; sentence commuted.

Kenneth Pulse, 46, Oklahoma City, no record check, Gage County, two years, 1952; commuted.

Dale Cramer, 34, Alma, first degree murder, Harlan County, life, 1943; commuted to 35 years.

Guy E. McCoy, 27, Omaha, escape and auto theft, Lancaster, two years, 1952; action deferred six months.

Cramer's Life Sentence Cut To 35 Years

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Thirteen paroles or commutations of sentence were granted by the State Pardon Board at their January meeting, Wednesday.

The board also commuted to 35 years the life sentence of Dale Cramer, 34, Alma, sentenced in 1943 on first degree murder charges. He has now served 10 years of the sentence and was reported to have been a model prisoner during all of that time.

Pleading for clemency was Cramer's 79-year-old father who said he wanted to aid him in getting re-established in a useful life before he died. His mother also urged clemency saying that she believed his act in killing his month old baby was motivated by his wife not wanting the child.

Full Responsibility

Cramer, however, took full responsibility for his act and said while it was on his mind every day he was unable to account for his action. Under questioning, he said it might have been jealousy of the child coming between himself and his wife.

The classification board had recommended to the parole board that Cramer should be released earlier than the average. Recommendations for clemency also came from Neil Olson, Miami, Fla., former warden, and Irvin Gates, Falls City, former deputy warden.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 4 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 4, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Railroads Trigger Vigorous Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market pushed ahead Wednesday for the second straight time, and on this occasion it was able to muster one show of vigor.
Railroads triggered the rally in the second hour that gave the market its best boost of the day.
Prices were at their best levels during that hour. For the remainder of the day they drifted off to a quiet close with the final stages of trading showing the greatest retreat. Railroads were well down from their tops at the final bell.

Raises All Grains
CHICAGO (AP)—A brisk buying movement in the last half hour lifted grains above the previous close on the Board of Trade Wednesday.
Before the late rally the market had absorbed two sharp selling waves, driving up ground gradually and never declining much more than a cent. The ability of the market to take this concentrated selling was quite some late short covering.

What caused the late rally? It was short covering, as well as a higher bid by 1 1/2 higher, soybeans 1 1/2 higher, and corn 1 1/2 higher. Soybeans were bought 1 1/2 higher, corn 1 1/2 higher, and wheat 1 1/2 higher. The market was able to take this concentrated selling was quite some late short covering.

Red China 'Virtually Incorporating' No. Korea: Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Wednesday that Communist China is gobbling up North Korea, "virtually incorporating" it as a Chinese province.

This will make it enormously difficult to reunite Korea peacefully, Dulles said. But he expressed confidence that unification would be achieved eventually, just as he said he believes Germany will be whole again some day.

The secretary appeared before the committee to ask for Senate ratification of a mutual security pact with South Korea. He declared the treaty would discourage Red aggression and help guard peace in the Pacific.

There were indications that ratification would be approved by the committee in short order, particularly since Dulles said it would be "entirely appropriate" for the Senate to emphasize in a statement or interpretive clause that the United States is not bound to back any aggressive moves made by South Korea. Several senators want this made crystal clear.

Some other senators expressed interest Wednesday in developing a Pacific alliance similar to that which binds the North Atlantic treaty nations together for defensive purposes.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.), committee chairman, asked Dulles whether it would be possible to build such an alliance on the foundation the United States laid with Australia and New Zealand, the Philippines and other nations. Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, also expressed interest in the idea.

Dulles said the South Korean pact "has significance as another step in the development of a Pacific security system."

While there would be advantages in tying all the Pacific treaties together, he went on, "sharp differences" exist between some of the countries and there is "quite a long road ahead" before it would be possible to develop a Pacific security system along the lines of NATO.

For example, he said, Australia and New Zealand "don't look favorably on relations with Formosa," the island bastion of Chiang Kai-shek, the Chinese Nationalist leader. He also said

President Syngman Rhee of South Korea is wary of Japan. The secretary said the first major purpose of the South Korean treaty is "to prevent any renewal of the Communist aggression in Korea by joining with the Republic of Korea in a clear and unequivocal statement of our common determination to defend ourselves against external armed attack, so that no potential aggressor can be under the illusion that either of us stands alone in the Pacific area."

Mrs. Ralph Hill Heads State Mothers Group

Gov. Robert Crosby Wednesday announced reappointment of Mrs. Ralph W. Hill of Hebron as chairman of the State Mothers Committee. The committee is under the Golden Rule Foundation of New York City.

The nine members of the committee are representative women from church and civic organizations. Annually they select the State Mother from which group the American Mother is chosen. The committee is now receiving nominations for this honor.

Avalanche Depths Give Up Victims In 'Valley Of Death'

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Twenty-seven Alpine villagers were found crushed or smothered to death Wednesday under avalanche masses in the hamlet of Blons and hope was all but abandoned for 35 others missing in the snowy depths there.

Forty-four were found injured in Blons and most were brought out to safety during the day.

Rescue workers at Blons came upon the greatest single concentration of tragedy in the spate of wind-blown avalanches that spread death and destruction in three neighbor nations since Sunday.

The 44 injured and the 62 dead or missing represent more than a fourth of Blons' 385 population.

Although the danger of avalanche generally slowed down during the day with the coming of colder temperatures, a report from Mellau near Bregenz said five persons were killed and six injured in an apparently new snowslide there.

All through the day U. S. and Swiss Air Forces sent doctors, medical supplies and food to Austria's "Valley of Death," in the Walser Region near the Swiss frontier.

Hardest Hit

Around, more than 1,000 rescuers began moving the injured from the ruins of seven villages in the valley, the area hardest hit by Alpine snow slides that have killed 117 persons and left 57 missing in Austria, West Germany and Switzerland.

More than 1,000 rescue workers toiled in this one valley, where giant snowslides have battered seven villages since Monday.

Austria, the hardest hit, counted 92 known dead but rescue officials expressed fear Wednesday night the "white death" toll may reach 145 persons before dawn. The rescuers said men cannot live more than 2 1/2 days beneath the snow, and they pushed on to look for 53 persons missing since Monday.

G-E Bid Low On New City Transformer

The General Electric Co. has submitted the low bid of $41,598 at the City Hall for supplying the city with a 6,000 kilovolt ampere transformer for the A Street power plant.

The city now has two 3,600 KVA transformers at the station and one of these will be replaced with the new and larger unit. The transformers are used to reduce the 34,500 voltage power received from the Nebraska Public Power System to the 4,800 voltage used by Lincoln for distribution to its customers.

Delivery of the new transformer is scheduled for Sept. 1. The bid does not include installation of the unit.

Other bidders and their prices: Pennsylvania Transformer Co., $43,320; Western Electric Corp., $43,802; Atlas Chalmers Manufacturing Co., $44,064; White Electric Co., $44,155; Edison Electric Co., $44,155.

The city's estimate was $52,000. Purchase of the equipment has been recommended by the City Power Advisory committee in the face of increasing demands upon the city power system.

Dietemeyer, 38, Elected Head Beatrice Bank

BEATRICE, Neb.—Harold R. Dietemeyer, 38, has been elected president of the First National Bank of Beatrice, according to an announcement by the board of directors.

A former Lincolnite, Dietemeyer began his banking career in 1936 with the Continental National Bank of Lincoln. In 1940 he accepted a Civil Service appointment as bank examiner for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. In 1946 he came to Beatrice as cashier of the First National Bank of Beatrice. He was promoted to executive vice president in 1950.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, and of the University of Wisconsin School of Banking, he is at present on the advisory council of that school. He is a World War II veteran of the European and Pacific theatres.

Active in Beatrice civic life, the young banker is a past president of the Chamber of Commerce and was voted "Young Man of the Year" in 1950 in Beatrice.

State Costs Over Million Below '51-'53

State expenditures for the first six months of the current biennium totaled about a million and a quarter less than in the corresponding six months of the 1951-53 biennium.

The tax commissioner's office reported Wednesday that expenditures for the six months ending Dec. 31 amounted to $4,005,872.

The figure for the period July-December, inclusive, in 1951 was $4,780,686.

The Highway Department spent $13,713,085 in the six months just ended, compared to $16,139,667 in the corresponding six months two years ago.

Public assistance cost the state $8,602,391 in the six-month period just closed, compared to $9,628,671 in the corresponding period of the last biennium.

The educational institutions spent $18,399,759 in the six months just ended.

December, 1953 expenditures totaled $6,987,182. This figure included $1,410,956 paid out by the highway department and $1,572,505 for assistance. The educational institutions spent $1,892,627.
